Board Orders Closing Of Klondyke

General cutbacks in the East Liverpool school system, including the closing of an East End school and elimination of free transportation of secondary students, were announced by the Board of Education Monday night.

The curtailments, which will become effective in September, were recommended by Supt. Paul Blair and accepted by a unanimous vote of all the board members present — Mrs. Nessie Dunlop, president, Harry McConville, Richard Smith and Samuel Brown. John Woomer was absent.

Blair said the curtailments — which he termed necessary to provide money to meet salary increases granted teachers recently — will provide approximately $180,000.

THE BOARD is planning to place a 3.5-mill levy for school purposes on the November ballot.

Blair said: "Immediately following the passage of an additional 3.5-mill levy, an orderly and carefully - planned reinstatement of curtailments will be made."

The one exception noted would be a reopening of Klondyke School. It will remain closed even if the levy passes, with the students being transferred to Neville School.

Twelve areas of cutbacks were listed by the board. All will remain in effect until "such time as the Board of Education is in a position to meet the demands of operational costs," it was explained.

By state law, the board is required only to provide free transportation for students in the first through the eighth grades if they live two or more miles from the school. The board is reimbursed by the state for these students. It also is reimbursed if the student lives one mile beyond the school and rides the bus. Blair said the board will continue to recognize the one-mile limitation for elementary children.

The bus routes will be the same, but parents will be required to pay the full cost of transportation for students in the ninth through 12th grades. The cost will be 75 cents per week for two trips a day or $1.50 per week for four trips per day. The estimated savings was set at $20,000 to $24,000.

ELEVEN professional staff members will be eliminated. Blair said the board carried 11 teachers on the rolls over the number covered by the state foundation program and that they were paid entirely from operating expenses of the local board.

Five coaching assignments have been eliminated — three in football, two in junior high and one at the high school.

Driver education and the special remedial reading program in the high school will be eliminated, with teachers of each reassigned to other duties, Blair said.

The board also voted to eliminate substitute teachers for junior and senior high schools, except for cases of extended illness of teachers. The teachers will double up on classes where the subjects are the same or the students will be sent to a study hall, it was explained.

Substitute teachers for elementary schools also will be eliminated. Where possible, high school students who plan to enter the teaching field will be utilized, Blair said. He also pointed out that elementary teachers are required to have lesson plans outlined for use by the principals, who can take over if necessary.

All field trips will be eliminated. Although some are paid for by parent - teacher organizations, the board still is required to provide a city bus and driver. This takes the driver away from other duties and the wear and tear on the bus must be considered, Blair said.

The attendance of teachers at professional meetings will be curtailed, saving the board traveling expenses, etc.

MATERIALS fees and laboratory fees will be charged the students. Although listed in the curtailments, these were acted

Pelini Appointed To Position That Hargraves Held

Carl F. Pelini of Harding Ave. Ext. has been elevated from East Liverpool High School principal to assistant superintendent.

His unanimous appointment was announced during a meeting of the Board of Education Monday night.

Pelini fills the vacancy created by the resignation of George Hargraves Jr., who has accepted a position of superintendent of a newly - formed school district in Meigs County.

Pelini was given a two - year contract. His salary the first year will be $11,000 and $11,500 the second. It was pointed out the second year salary is contingent on passage of a levy at the November election.

CARL F. PELINI
Gets 2-Year Contract.

PELINI came to East Liverpool in 1954 as a high school English teacher and assistant football coach under Bob Gibson. He continued as an assistant to Lou Venditti for two more seasons after Gibson left, but gave up his coaching career in 1958 when he was named assistant principal at Westgate, succeeding Thomas Dixon, who was elevated to principal.

He received his master's degree in 1957 from Kent State University. Supt. Paul Blair said last night that Pelini will receive his superintendent's certificate in September.

He took post - graduate work in guidance supervision at Northwestern University in 1958. He earned his Bachelor of Arts degree at St. Vincent's College, Latrobe, Pa., in 1952. While at St. Vincent, Pelini won three football letters and played in the Tangerine Bowl game Jan. 1, 1950, as a sophomore.

He was born Oct. 13, 1929, in Youngstown and was graduated from Ursuline High School in 1948.

Pelini entered the Army in August 1952, serving 18 months in Puerto Rico as an English instructor for Puerto Rican trainees. Following his discharge, he accepted the post here.

Professionally, he is a member and past vice president of the East Liverpool Teachers Association and a member of the Ohio Valley Principals Discussion Group. He also is a member of the Ohio Education As-

Schools' Budget Tops $3 Million

The cost of operating East Liverpool schools has surpassed the $3 million mark under the 1967 estimated budget of $3,050,859 adopted by the Board of Education during its meeting Monday night.

This is an increase of $397,544 over 1966. The actual appropriations, which will be made next March, will be somewhat lower, however.

The largest increase is for teachers' salaries, estimated at $1,377,949 the coming year, compared with $1,276,570 in 1966. The board recently granted salary increases to the teachers.

THE BUDGET was presented by Samuel W. Brown board finance chairman, who commented that the board met several times to discuss where cuts could be made and come up with an operating plan. The figures depend on the passage of a new 3.5-mill levy in November and this has been projected into the budget relative to teacher salaries, he pointed out.

Harry McConville, board member, said wages were the only item increased any great amount.

The budget must be submitted to the Columbiana County Budget Commission at Lisbon for final approval.

The total general fund is $2,247,376, compared with $2,096,363 last year.

Some federal funds being received this year also account for the greater total.

Ban On Left Turns Starts Hot Council Argument

One of the most heated arguments on the Council floor in many years was touched off Monday night when members were confronted again with the perennial question of banning left turns off E. 5th St. onto Walnut St. for eastbound traffic.

President Ernest Lowe, a Republican, and Councilmen Frank Duffy and Floyd Murray, both East End Democrats, were the principal antagonists in the heated exchange, which was punctuated by several raps of the president's gavel.

But when it was all over, nothing had been changed. An order set up by Council several weeks ago permitting left turns was allowed to remain in force.

The traffic regulation, which was provoked several heated exchanges in the past, stemmed originally from Duffy's suggestion to eliminate left turns at the intersection as a traffic hazard.

Last night's argument was touched off when Bernard Midler, a representative of the Ceramic Auto Supply Co. and A.-M. Auto Equipment on Walnut St., presented a petition with 600 signatures requesting that the city continue to allow left turns at the intersection.

Speaking in the section of the meeting reserved for citizens, he pointed out he represented a group of merchants on Walnut St. He expiained he sought to present a petition asking that the left turn rule be allowed to remain as it is at present.

The president replied that Sec-

Revisions Are Forced By Fuel Use

Primary Projects Slated To Be Saved On Gemini Mission

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Space scientists shuffled priorities this morning to salvage the most significant phases of the Gemini 10 mission, beset by a shortage of spacecraft fuel.

Astronauts John W. Young and Michael Collins, slept through a record-shattering orbit after a successful docking with their Agena rocket target and a hitchhike ride under Agena's power toward the next assignments of their daring mission.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesmen said there would be some revision of the program, but held to the belief major projects would be saved.

Next item on the planned schedule was a descent to a lower orbit to intercept the Agena 8 rocket carcass, left in a docking path to provide a second target in the skies.

Rendezvous would be a fuel-consuming maneuver.

In the first eight hours after a perfect beginning, command pilot Young and pilot Collins achieved three spectacular space achievements including an altitude record of 476 miles.

For some reason, neither the astronauts nor the ground controllers could explain, they used an excess of fuel in catching up with the Agena 10 which preceded them into orbit by 100 minutes Monday afternoon.

The fuel shortage caused a rearrangement of the flight plan, wiping out two additional dockings planned today and raising a question whether Collins and command pilot John W. Young would be able to rendezvous Wednesday with another Agena left in space after the Gemini 8 flight last March.

Flight Director Glynn Lunney said early today that "we're working on the plan for today, looking at the fuel we have left to see what experiments we can conduct and the exact maneuvers we can make."

Despite the fuel shortage, Young and Collins achieved the major goals of the flight — rendezvous and docking — in the first hours of the flight that started late Monday from Cape Kennedy.

After a thrilling 103,000-mile chase across the skies, Gemini 10 caught an Agena sent up 100 minutes ahead of it, then registered history's second linkup two space vehicles.

The exercise was climaxed brilliantly when Young and Collins fired the powerful engine of the docked Agena — the first time the rocket of one satellite had been used to maneuver a manned space ship.

For nine startling seconds the Agena spurted a fountain of flame and sent Gemini 10 shooting to a record altitude of 476

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Gunfire punctuated rioting in a predominantly Negro neighborhood on Cleveland's East Side early today, leaving a 26-year-old woman dead and two men with minor bullet wounds.

Gangs made up mostly of teen-age boys hurled fire bombs and smashed and looted stores.

More than 300 policemen — directed from a command post bus and aided by a helicopter — were involved in the six-hour effort to bring the widely scattered disturbance under control.

Three policemen were hit by bricks and rocks and treated at a nearby hospital for injuries that were not serious.

Police and newsmen reported they were shot at by snipers in the Hough area.

Police shot out street lights in the vicinity of East 75th and Hough to keep from being targets and ordered all occupants out of an apartment building there in a vain effort to find a sniper.

At least eight fires broke out — some started by fire bombs — and firemen trying to fight the flames were shot at and had to dodge bottles, fire bombs and rocks, police reported.

A gang of men cut a fire hose near 86th Street, where half a block of two-story brick and frame store buildings burned.

Firemen were called off twice because of interference but returned to put out the flames. They were aided by a brief, early morning rain. The rain also helped police clear the streets.

Killed by gunfire was Joyce Arnett, mother of three. A witness said Mrs. Arnett had been ordered into a building as police sought to clear the 73rd Street-Hough intersection and was shot as she leaned out a second-floor window and screamed for her children.

More than 40 persons were arrested.

Report Says Viet Reds Set To Try Pilots

PARIS (AP) — The French News Agency said in a dispatch from Peking that the North Vietnamese ambassador declared today captured U.S. pilots will be tried as war criminals.

The agency's correspondent quoted Ambassador Tran Du Vinh as making the statement at a news conference.

The ambassador told newsmen that the American pilots had never been considered by North Viet Nam as prisoners of war. Therefore they did not come under the Geneva Convention which would prevent their being put on trial, he added.

The ambassador gave no indication as to when the trials would begin, but he added that the pilots' fate would be left up to the Vietnamese people.

Survivor Tells How Other Nurses Felt It Was Safer To 'Go Along'

CHICAGO (AP) — She tried to persuade the others to resist: They felt it would be safer to go along. As the quiet-spoken intruder led each of her friends to their deaths, she crouched under a bed and prayed.

The consul general of the Philippines said Corazon Amurao gave him this account Monday night of the Chicago massacre of eight student nurses. Miss Amurao was the only survivor.

It was the first account of the night of horror Miss Amurao has given, apart from reports to police which have been largely confidential.

Consul General Generoso P. Provido visited Miss Amurao, 23, an exchange student from his country, in the hospital room where the girl has been confined since the slayings last Thursday.

The only time she has left the room was for a brief visit Monday to the jail hospital where the man suspected of committing the slaughter was under treatment after attempting suicide.

The man, Richard Speck, 24, was under sedation and doctors forbade a face-to-face meeting. They said in their opinion neither he nor Miss Amurao could stand the strain, so she returned to her hospital bed.

Provido said the girl told him she and the other two Filipino nurses tried to convince the rest that they should gang up on the intruder and try to escape "but the American girls cautioned them not to do anything."

Provido reported the girls as saying, that since the man told them he meant them no harm, "Let's not start anything that will make this one do something crazy."

Miss Amurao, terror stricken, hid under a bed and prayed as he took the other eight out of the room one at a time and strangled or stabbed them.

"She said the man did not appear violent and did not talk violently," Provido said. The American girls therefore felt that "maybe if we are quiet and calm, he will remain quiet and calm." Miss Amurao said in the words of the consul.

Provido said Miss Amurao appeared to feel well. He said she was not in bed during his visit but sat in a chair or walked about the room.

Miss Amurao has not been allowed to see or talk with any but official visitors on orders of State's Attorney Daniel P. Ward.

It was one of a number of strict precautions police were observing so as not to mar the prosecution of Speck by any act which might conceivably conflict with recent Supreme Court rulings regarding questioning of suspects, right to counsel and pretrial publicity.

Cameras have been forbidden in the courtroom where Speck is scheduled to be arraigned as soon as he is physically able; nurses have been cautioned not to converse with him about the case; and a lawyer stood ready to represent him should he request it.

"If he asks for an attorney I'll represent him myself," said Chief Counsel Gerald Getty of the Public Defender's office.

"This office is doing its best to insure that he can get a fair trial," Ward said.

Ward said extreme precautions to protect Speck's security would not be relaxed. "We are cognizant of the situation in Dallas after President Kennedy's death," he said. He referred to the killing of Lee Harvey Oswald.

Dr. William N. Norcross, associate medical director of the jail hospital, said Speck had admitted trying to take his own life.

Speck was arrested Sunday after a doctor treating him for a slashed arm recognized him as the man for whom a murder warrant has been issued 15 hours earlier.

Marine Force Holds Out Against Waves Of Enemy

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two U.S. Marine platoons held out for four hours against waves of North Vietnamese troops just south of the 17th Parallel Monday while covering the withdrawal of the rest of their battalion.

The bloody fight cost the enemy about 500 dead or wounded, one Marine officer estimated. The 90 or so Leathernecks took heavy casualties but stood up against the overwhelmingly larger force until air and artillery strikes drove the North Vietnamese off.

Marine fighter-bombers dropped napalm as close as 50 feet from the Leatherneck positions to prevent them being overrun. Some Marines were injured in the strikes.

The savage fight was the bitterest action yet in Operation Hastings, which last weekend brought thousands of Marines and South Vietnamese troops into the steamy mountains more than 400 miles northeast of Saigon in search of a North Vietnamese division which allied intelligence says recently crossed the demilitarized zone division between the two Viet Nams.

Despite the heavy losses to the two platoons, U.S. headquarters in Saigon said allied casualties remained light overall since the sweep began Friday. The official number of enemy killed rose to 226, up 58 from Monday's report. The Marines

Miss Amurao has not been allowed to see or talk with any but official visitors on orders of State's Attorney Daniel P. Ward.

It was one of a number of strict precautions police were observing so as not to mar the prosecution of Speck by any act which might conceivably conflict with recent Supreme Court rulings regarding questioning of suspects, right to counsel and pretrial publicity.

Cameras have been forbidden in the courtroom where Speck is scheduled to be arraigned as soon as he is physically able; nurses have been cautioned not to converse with him about the case; and a lawyer stood ready to represent him should he request it.

"If he asks for an attorney I'll represent him myself," said Chief Counsel Gerald Getty of the Public Defender's office.

"This office is doing its best to insure that he can get a fair trial," Ward said.

Ward said extreme precautions to protect Speck's security would not be relaxed. "We are cognizant of the situation in Dallas after President Kennedy's death," he said. He referred to the killing of Lee Harvey Oswald.

Dr. William N. Norcross, associate medical director of the jail hospital, said Speck had admitted trying to take his own life.

Speck was arrested Sunday after a doctor treating him for a slashed arm recognized him as the man for whom a murder warrant has been issued 15 hours earlier.

Report Says Viet Reds Set To Try Pilots

PARIS (AP) — The French News Agency said in a dispatch from Peking that the North Vietnamese ambassador declared today captured U.S. pilots will be tried as war criminals.

The agency's correspondent quoted Ambassador Tran Du Vinh as making the statement at a news conference.

The ambassador told newsmen that the American pilots had never been considered by North Viet Nam as prisoners of war. Therefore they did not come under the Geneva Convention which would prevent their being put on trial, he added.

The ambassador gave no indication as to when the trials would begin, but he added that the pilots' fate would be left up to the Vietnamese people.

Marine Force Holds Out Against Waves Of Enemy

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two U.S. Marine platoons held out for four hours against waves of North Vietnamese troops just south of the 17th Parallel Monday while covering the withdrawal of the rest of their battalion.

The bloody fight cost the enemy about 500 dead or wounded, one Marine officer estimated. The 90 or so Leathernecks took heavy casualties but stood up against the overwhelmingly larger force until air and artillery strikes drove the North Vietnamese off.

Marine fighter-bombers dropped napalm as close as 50 feet from the Leatherneck positions to prevent them being overrun. Some Marines were injured in the strikes.

The savage fight was the bitterest action yet in Operation Hastings, which last weekend brought thousands of Marines and South Vietnamese troops into the steamy mountains more than 400 miles northeast of Saigon in search of a North Vietnamese division which allied intelligence says recently crossed the demilitarized zone division between the two Viet Nams.

Despite the heavy losses to the two platoons, U.S. headquarters in Saigon said allied casualties remained light overall since the sweep began Friday. The official number of enemy killed rose to 226, up 58 from Monday's report. The Marines

New Approach Sought On Community College

LISBON — Members of the Columbiana County Board of Education have urged county residents to forget the setback to the community college proposal and strive for victory with a new team.

A resolution adopted Monday night at the Courthouse points to a national trend toward community colleges, calls for new talks among different groups in the county and suggests a new board of trustees free of political overtones.

The complete resolution follows:

"Be it resolved that the refusal of the Board of Regents to issue a charter to Columbiqna County for a community college signifies that the county has sustained irreparable damage to the cause of higher education.

"The failure of dissident groups to get together on one institution of higher education has seemingly resulted in the county getting nothing at all.

"The national trend is strong and unmistaken for the establishment of community colleges. Why should Ohio try to reverse this trend?

"The county board is desirous that the Columbiana County Community College Board of Trustees revive action in this county to start a dialogue between the different groups representing varying ideas for higher education. It also should reopen the community college project wiht the Board of Regents as quickly as prudent, and use all methods proper to force positive action.

"The county board is grateful for the diligent and sincere work done by the Community College Board of Trustees. However, it suggests that a new board of trustees be considered which would eliminate political contention."

sociation, National Education Association and National Association of Secondary School Principals.

He is a former director of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, a member of St. Aloysius Catholic Church and the alumni organizations of St. Vincent's and Kent State.

Blair said in answer to several questions by those attending the meeting, that Pelini's salary is paid primarily by the state foundation program. If East Liverpool would not appoint an assistant superintendent, it would lose the salary, plus $1,700 paid for extended service for the post, he commented.

East Liverpool is termed an "additional aid school district" by the state, which means that the state foundation programs pays 49 per cent of the teachers' salaries and 70 per cent of the salaries of the superintendent, assistant superintendent, special education instructors, etc., plus the extended service fees, Blair pointed out.

No action was taken to fill Pelini's former position. Blair said he has notified universities of the existing vacancy and the need for an assistant junior high assistant principal, but to date has received no applications. He said he is seeking someone with strong disciplinary qualifications.

THE BOARD accepted the resignation of Miss Mildred McGregor as assistant elementary principal at Westgate. She will retire. Miss McGregor has been in the city school system more than 40 years. She will be sent a letter of appreciation from the board.

Miss Ann Johnston was appointed to fill the position. She was granted a two - year contract, with a salary of $8,250 for the first and $8,500 for the second. Miss Johnston had been principal of Garfield and Horace Mann Schools.

Milton Watson, who had been a junior high assistant principal, was transferred, at his request, to the Garfield - Horace Mann post. Blair said Watson had asked to be appointed to the elementary system when there was an opening. His salary will be determined by the existing salary schedule for teachers, plus his principal's duties.

Jerry Russell, East Junior High principal, was granted a new two - year contract at a salary of $8,450 the first year and $8,700 the second.

Robert Wines, a graduate of East Liverpool High School, was employed as a general science teacher for Westgate.

The board voted to increase elementary principals' assignments by two additional weeks at $200 per week per principal. They will work an additional week prior to opening of school and following the closing of school. The additional money is provided by the state foundation and does not come from the city's operating funds, the board pointed out.

The board accepted resignations from Mrs. Joyce Turner and Mrs. Joan Cooper, elementary teachers, and Frank Chan, Richard Crugnale and Robert Vrabel, high school teachers. Blair said they either are moving from the city or have accepted other employment.

Samuel W. Brown, board member, said the superintendent's contract will be acted on at the next meeting.

Council

tion 403 of the City Code provides that traffic regulations are governed by the chief of police.

"This should not come up here," he told Midler. Lowe referred to a section of the code which allows the police chief to make temporary changes in traffic regulations under emergency conditions for periods of up to 90 days.

"How many signatures are there on the petition?" Duffy asked.

"That has nothing to do with it," Lowe replied.

That touched off a long exchange between Duffy and Lowe on whether or not Council has the power to regulate the traffic matters. Most of the time, both were talking at once and their remarks were incomprehensible.

Then Murray took the floor. "Council can change the regulations any time it wants," he told Lowe. "You misled these people. If five members want a change, we can do it. You're here to run the meeting, that's all."

Murray and Duffy both were on their feet at this point. Then Midler got the floor again.

"I didn't come here to fight," he said "I came here to express an opinion. There are 600 signatures on the petition. Less than half of them are East Liverpool residents, but more than half of our retail trade comes from out of town. If it is difficult for these people to come here to shop they won't do it."

Then he cited Sharon, Pa., as an instance of a city which lost much of its retail trade because motorists found it "difficult to maneuver or park."

There was another long exchange between Midler and Duffy about the need for the left turn ban.

Then Councilman Robert Sample took the floor to explain the provisions of Section 403 of the City Code. The section covers temporary changes of up to 90 days, but permanent changes in parking and traffic regulations still are Council's prerogative, he said.

Councilman Norman Bucher made a motion to accept Midler's petitions and make them part of the record. Sample seconded.

"It's easy to get 600 names," Duffy commented. "Anybody can get 600 names or a petition."

An unidentified man in the audience suggested the left turn problem could be solved by installing an "advance green" signal on the traffic light similar to one in use at W. 6th and Jefferson Sts. That would give eastbound traffic an opportunity to turn while requiring other traffic to halt, he said.

Murray sought to take the floor several times during the exchange, but was ruled out of order by Lowe. Murray cited Council's rules on the question of a member's right to speak a second time on the same question.

As he took the floor again, he said to Lowe: "I'm getting tired of your sarcasm" and Lowe replied: "I'm getting tired of yours, too!"

"I'm chairman of the street committee," Murray said. "At first we recommended the ban on left turns. We studied it for 30 days and saw it would not work. We took the sign down. I thought we could alleviate it with a green arrow, but we have not finished our investigation. I have done all I can to eliminate the trouble and do what is right. The sign is down now and left turns are permitted. What is the trouble:"

Midler replied the businessmen sought to seek the regulation in force as it is now.

After some more discussion, Council voted, 6-1, to accept Midler's petitions. Duffy cast the only dissenting vote.

Price Of Meals Raised At Westgate Cafeteria

A five - cent increase in meals at Westgate School cafeteria to meet the rising cost of foodstuffs and operational expenses was approved by the Board of Education during its meeting Monday night.

The lunches for students were raised from 30 cents to 35 cents the coming term. The meals for adults — teachers, supervisors, etc. — were increased 10 cents, from 40 to 50 cents per meal.

The salary of the cafeteria manager was increased $500 to $2,885 for nine and a half months work, while the assistant manager's salary was set at $2,455 for the same period.

COOKS WERE granted an increase from $10.15 per day to $10.40. The salary of substitute cooks will remain the same, $10.15.

The increase in the meals is necessary since the system is not receiving the amount of commodities from the government as in the past, with more food being obtained locally, board members said. In answer to a question from Richard Smith, board member, Supt. Paul Blair said the increase is "absolutely necessary."

It was pointed out the cafeteria cannot be operated as a profit - making business. The cost of the meals must be kept down so there is no great balance in the lunch room fund.

The Rev. Charles W. Kampmeyer, who was in the audience, commented he was amazed at the quality of meals offered and said he does not feel that 35 cents for the students is out of line. Rev. Kampmeyer offered the opening prayer.

The Golden Star Dairy was awarded a contract to provide milk for students at 6¼ cents per half pint for white, homogenized milk. Vernon Dell Dairy submitted a similar bid.

Blair recommended the Golden Star, since the firm had the contract last year and provided all the necessary refrigeration in each building. The cost is a quarter of a cent more than last year.

The contract to provide bread and buns for the cafteria went to the Ward Baking Co. The firm bid 20 cents for a 17-ounce loaf of bread, 22.79 cents per 24-ounch loaf, 24 cents per dozen for sandwich buns and 22.5 cents per dozen for wiener buns. Wards had the contract last year.

Nickles Bakery bid 18 cents for a 17-ounce loaf of bread, 25.5 cents for sandwich buns and 26 cents for wiener buns. Keystone Bakery bid 18 cents for bread, 26.5 cents for sandwich buns and 30.5 cents for wiener buns. Schwebel Bakery bid 16 cents for bread, 24 cents for sandwich buns and 22.5 cents for wiener buns.

IN OTHER business, the board approved payment of vacation pay of the late Harold Hadley, a custodian, to his widow.

Blair said the system has received 28 films through the federal programs. Valued at $1,600 to $1,700, they will be catalogued and placed in the school film library. There are both elementary and secondary films, Blair said.

The board voted to approve a resolution asking the state to establish a testing center here for those seeking high school equivalent certificates. The board acted at the last meeting to have a center established, but he state requires a formal resolution.

The board approved the establishment of a kindergarten at Taft School. It will be operated by the Taft Home and School Association. Space at the school is available, Blair said.

The East Liverpool Dahlia and Floral Society was granted permission to use Westgate auditorium for its 41st annual show Sept. 23-25. The rental fee was set at $20 and the organization also must pay for custodial services. The board stipulated the floor must be protected, since it is to be completely refinished.

Blair said bids will be opened noon Friday for the painting of classrooms and halls at Westgate School.

It was reported that Robert Beatty, architect, was in Columbus today meeting with the building section relative to plans for the new schools here. Approval of plans for construction of new elementary buildings and a new high school is expected any day.

In connection with the construction, the board agreed to send a letter to City Council asking for study of a storm sewer on Maine Blvd.

Miss Kathryn Liebschner, clerk, was absent and Smith served as acting clerk.

The financial report as of Monday was general fund, $1,156.20; bond retirement, $35,185.80; lunch room, $2,250.10; improvement fund No. 2, $408.87; MDT, $244.83; night schools, $83.52 in the red; uniform supplies, $144.73 in the red; repair and maintenance, $74,970.44; federal funds, $26,691.59, and project No. 491, $15,655.24.

Suspended Term Given Driver On License Charge

James E. Deel, 19, of 1307 Main St., Wellsville, was given a suspended 10-day County Jail term today in Municipal Court when he pleaded guilty before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a charge of operating a motor vehicle without a driver's license.

Judge Chertoff suspended the sentence on condition Deel returns to court within two weeks with a valid permit. Deel told the court his previous license expired June 1. He was cited at 3:19 this morning on Market St. by Lt. Robert B. Pyle, police said.

Roy L. Givens, 35, of 142 Ravine St. was fined $5 and costs on a charge of crashing a traffic light at E. 6th St. and Broadway. Cited at 2:45 this morning by Patrolman Dwight Garvey, he pleaded "no contest."

Carl A. Veon, 52, of Steubenville drew a fine of $5 and costs on a charge of failure to obey an automatic traffic signal. He was cited at 5:05 p. m. Monday on the Diamond by Patrolman Paul Blevins. The officer said Veon drove south across 6th St. onto Market St. from St. Clair Ave. although a "green arrow" signal on the traffic light there permits only a left turn.

Meeting Set On Tour To Hawaii By Bankers

The Beaver County American Institute of Banking Hawaiian Tour will hold an orientation meeting at the Beaver County Courthouse Wednesday at 8 p.m., Donald Haswell, local tour chairman, has announced.

Details of the trip scheduled for Sept. 10-25 will be discussed and final arrangements will be made for the tour. A movie on Hawaii will be screened for those who were unable to attend the first meeting.

Haswell of the Midland Beaver Trust Co., said anyone interested in the tour is welcome. Reservations will close after the meeting.

Yule Lights Approved By Palestine Chamber

EAST PALESTINE — The purchase of 15 sets of Christmas street lights for the downtown area was approved by the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce at a breakfast meeting this morning at Mackall's Restaurant.

Some $2,000 will have to be raised to obtain the lights, Robert Cole, a director, explained. The lights were on display at the sidewalk sale held last week.

New Democrat Group Installed At Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — Sixty-five attended installation of officers of the newly organized Women's Democrat Club Monday night at the Plaza Restaurant.

Mrs. Frank Wisser of the Negley-New Waterford Rd. was installed as president by Mrs. Iris Applegate of East Liverpool. Representatives of six county women's clubs were present.

Hopewall was taking Eskridge to the station on a complaint. The man pulled a knife and broke away, but was stopped by a group of citizens who attempted to help the officer.

What "Interconnection" means for Ohio...and for you

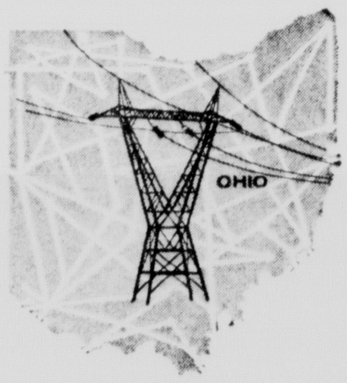

Knit together to provide dependable, low-cost electricity

You get more dependable service, because Ohio's eight investor-owned electric light and power companies are interconnected to form one of the strongest regional networks in the nation. This network is linked with electric systems in many other states. The exchange of electricity over these "knit-together" lines benefits you in many ways. Here are three:

1 It helps keep costs down, because fewer stand-by facilities are needed by your electric company. The price you pay for electricity remains low.

2 Because these companies are interconnected for instant exchange of power, you get even more dependable electric service

3 By providing a more dependable electric service throughout the state, the investor-owned utilities help to attract new industries and new jobs in Ohio, helping to make your community a better place in which to live.

Price Of Meals Raised At Westgate Cafeteria

A five - cent increase in meals at Westgate School cafeteria to meet the rising cost of foodstuffs and operational expenses was approved by the Board of Education during its meeting Monday night.

The lunches for students were raised from 30 cents to 35 cents the coming term. The meals for adults — teachers, supervisors, etc. — were increased 10 cents, from 40 to 50 cents per meal.

The salary of the cafeteria manager was increased $500 to $2,885 for nine and a half months work, while the assistant manager's salary was set at $2,455 for the same period.

COOKS WERE granted an increase from $10.15 per day to $10.40. The salary of substitute cooks will remain the same, $10.15.

The increase in the meals is necessary since the system is not receiving the amount of commodities from the government as in the past, with more food being obtained locally, board members said. In answer to a question from Richard Smith, board member, Supt. Paul Blair said the increase is "absolutely necessary."

It was pointed out the cafeteria cannot be operated as a profit - making business. The cost of the meals must be kept down so there is no great balance in the lunch room fund.

The Rev. Charles W. Kampmeyer, who was in the audience, commented he was amazed at the quality of meals offered and said he does not feel that 35 cents for the students is out of line. Rev. Kampmeyer offered the opening prayer.

The Golden Star Dairy was awarded a contract to provide milk for students at 6¼ cents per half pint for white, homogenized milk. Vernon Dell Dairy submitted a similar bid.

Blair recommended the Golden Star, since the firm had the contract last year and provided all the necessary refrigeration in each building. The cost is a quarter of a cent more than last year.

The contract to provide bread and buns for the cafteria went to the Ward Baking Co. The firm bid 20 cents for a 17-ounce loaf of bread, 22.79 cents per 24-ounch loaf, 24 cents per dozen for sandwich buns and 22.5 cents per dozen for wiener buns. Wards had the contract last year.

Nickles Bakery bid 18 cents for a 17-ounce loaf of bread, 25.5 cents for sandwich buns and 26 cents for wiener buns. Keystone Bakery bid 18 cents for bread, 26.5 cents for sandwich buns and 30.5 cents for wiener buns. Schwebel Bakery bid 16 cents for bread, 24 cents for sandwich buns and 22.5 cents for wiener buns.

IN OTHER business, the board approved payment of vacation pay of the late Harold Hadley, a custodian, to his widow.

Blair said the system has received 28 films through the federal programs. Valued at $1,600 to $1,700, they will be catalogued and placed in the school film library. There are both elementary and secondary films, Blair said.

The board voted to approve a resolution asking the state to establish a testing center here for those seeking high school equivalent certificates. The board acted at the last meeting to have a center established, but he state requires a formal resolution.

The board approved the establishment of a kindergarten at Taft School. It will be operated by the Taft Home and School Association. Space at the school is available, Blair said.

The East Liverpool Dahlia and Floral Society was granted permission to use Westgate auditorium for its 41st annual show Sept. 23-25. The rental fee was set at $20 and the organization also must pay for custodial services. The board stipulated the floor must be protected, since it is to be completely refinished.

Blair said bids will be opened noon Friday for the painting of classrooms and halls at Westgate School.

It was reported that Robert Beatty, architect, was in Columbus today meeting with the building section relative to plans for the new schools here. Approval of plans for construction of new elementary buildings and a new high school is expected any day.

In connection with the construction, the board agreed to send a letter to City Council asking for study of a storm sewer on Maine Blvd.

Miss Kathryn Liebschner, clerk, was absent and Smith served as acting clerk.

The financial report as of Monday was general fund, $1,156.20; bond retirement, $35,185.80; lunch room, $2,250.10; improvement fund No. 2, $408.87; MDT, $244.83; night schools, $83.52 in the red; uniform supplies, $144.73 in the red; repair and maintenance, $74,970.44; federal funds, $26,691.59, and project No. 491, $15,655.24.

Control Of Urban Rioting

We don't know as much about the anatomy of riots as we are going to need to know in this Republic.

Lack of knowledge shows up in all investigations of riots that have occurred in the past and in the handling of many current riots. Ignorance was conspicuous in the handling of the Los Angeles rioting in 1965, for example.

The policemen and politicians responsible for making decisions did not know clearly what they were trying to do, or what the consequences of some of their decisions were certain to be.

Serious as that was and could be again, the most frightening thing about riots is the evidence they originate in the hopelessness of urban life for masses of human beings at the bottom of the economic scale.

People crowded into bad housing, trapped in depravity and made desperate by hopelessness are going to run amuck.

No one can predict what trifling incident will trigger the trouble.

No one can predict what form the trouble will take when it explodes, how long it will last, how far the shock waves will travel before they subside.

Police authority and the National Guard can figure out ways to cope with riots until their filing cases are full, but what needs to be coped with are conditions that cause riots.

The best viewpoint on conditions that cause trouble to start in cities could be found among experts in animal husbandry.

They know better than to crowd too many living creatures into too small a space.

Any intelligent human being who has worked with animals knows better than to expect good results from bad food and bad conditions.

Experts in animal husbandry would turn in their credentials if they tolerated a fraction of the bad practices routine in the slums of the nation's large cities.

What it adds up to is that we know more about chickens in this country than we know about people. We take better care of horses than we take of human beings.

More people are concerned with being kind to dumb animals than in being kind to their fellowmen. As one politician said last summer when called out for riot duty in Watts, where he never had been before, "Do people really live here? Do they really eat this garbage?"

When we know as much about the anatomy of riots as we need to know, we will put a limit on how many human beings can be crowded into so many feet of urban space. Inspectors will enforce minimum standards of shelter and nourishment.

There won't be any more slums — because until there are no more slums there will continue to be riots. And we can't afford riots.

Can there be cities without slums? Assuredly not, unless drastic changes are made in what cities will permit.

How many riots will it take to spur the drastic changes?

Chicago's Alert Action

Perhaps if it hadn't been their city's grisliest slaying in a long time, the Chicago police and a number of observant and cooperative citizens would not have performed so promptly and brilliantly in spotting and jailing a prime suspect in a massacre of eight student nurses last week.

As it turned out, the massacre set off one of the finest demonstrations of police work and private citizen alertness within memory. The misgivings of all skeptics who remembered that a Chicago incident, the jailing of Danny Escobedo, who had been arraigned on suspicion of murder in July 1964, brought a climax to the U.S. Supreme Court's doubts about long-continued scorn of the Fifth Amendment, were quieted.

That precedent-setting decision paved the way for this year's harshly criticized Supreme Court ruling that a prisoner's right to counsel and to refuse to testify against himself is absolute, not conditional.

When the massacre of the nurses occurred, Supreme Court critics were waiting for a chance to claim Chicago police would be hampered in pinning the crime on a suspect because they would be unable to elicit answers to their questions; they would be unable "to obtain a confession."

They think they have a prime suspect. Good police work and alertness by a number of citizens, including a young medical doctor, gave them the man they were looking for within a few days. No self-incrimination will be needed. None would have been risked in any event. Chicago is taking the Supreme Court ruling at face value.

If all police departments were able to act so quickly and efficiently, if all private citizens were as alert as the ones who helped the police in Chicago, self-incrimination would never have become the chief reliance of so many crime investigators.

Things Of Beauty

State boundaries mean little where beauty is concerned. Beauty is beauty where ever it may be found.

It is with a sense of pride, therefore, that the entire tri-state district applauds the selection of Miss Judith Skunda of Weirton as "Miss West Virginia."

While we in Ohio, naturally, cannot help but have a strong feeling toward Sharon Elaine Phillian of Delaware who will represent the Buckeye State at Atlantic City, a victory by Miss West Virginia would be more than acceptable.

Before ringing down the curtain on the Ohio finals, once more our congratulations to Debra Barefield who carried the banner of Columbiana County at Cedar Point. The final outcome in no way has diminished our admiration for the Lisbon girl who was both a credit to herself and to those she represented so graciously.

Is Help On The Way?

Four visitors from Africa—two from the Malagasy Republic, two from Senegal — were taken by their escort from Wooster, O., to see conditions in Cleveland's acutely depressed Hough area.

This was part of their tour of the United States under sponsorship of the U.S. State Department, so they could see how things were being taken care of in the United States.

They were shocked by what they saw in Cleveland's Hough area, a place badly run down, with residents so poor and desperate it is the city's prime welfare and police problem.

The poverty they saw confused them. They know poverty is worldwide, but the kind of poverty they saw in the heart of Ohio's largest city is not worldwide. It is the kind that can be seen in every large city in the United States—the kind that erodes human hope and thus breeds problems that cannot be solved by appeals to the better nature of the inhabitants.

These are the problems that make human beings run amuck in street riots.

These are the problems that necessitate the use of armed force — the problems that make summertime a season of terror for police authority in cities.

When the four visitors from Africa go home, will they institute action to send help to the United States, which sorely needs it?

Ground Rules Of Warfare

By Richard Spong

The ground rules of war require prisoners to be protected against violence, intimidation, insult, and public curiosity. The North Vietnamese already have violated the rules by marching dozens of captured American airmen through the streets of Hanoi under armed escort. A real rupture of the rules will occur if, as suggested in wire dispatches from other Communist capitals, the airmen are put on trial — perhaps on July 20 — as "war criminals."

The 1949 Geneva Convention on Prisoners of War which forbids such treatment applies to "all cases of declared war or any other armed conflict which may arise between two or more of the high contracting parties, even if the state of war is not recognized by one of them." North Viet Nam signed the accord on June 5, 1957.

WHAT IS ATROCITY and what is playing the game by the rules in the agonizing illogic of modern war is a dilemma usually reserved for civilians. At least one GI prisoner of war has been murdered by the Viet Cong in reprisal for the execution in Saigon of VC terrorists.

On the other hand, there have been many reports published of atrocities — some of them against POW's — by the South Vietnamese and even by our own troops. What happens in the heat of battle is perhaps understandable, if not excusable.

Americans have a history of naivete about war atrocities. Secretary of State Dean Rusk on July 14 warned Hanoi that abuse of the captured airmen "would be a very, very grave development indeed."

The question implicit is the mood of the American people and of President Johnson. The war so far has been conducted with an almost clinical detachment. For most Americans — except those immediately wounded in flesh or spirit — it has been almost a spectator war. But should the pilots be tried and executed, the nation's anger is almost certain to be loosed. The Washington Post warns: "North Viet Nam will invite terrible retaliation if it proceeds to try and punish captured American pilots."

The Baltimore Sun goes further: "Such moves would arouse demands in the United States for more intensive bombing of North Viet Nam in retaliation. Public opinion would be inflamed, as in past wars. A rational settlement of the war would be made more difficult."

James Reston states the case most explicitly: "Nobody who knows anything about Lyndon Johnson can have much doubt about the severity of his reaction if the fliers he sent into North Viet Nam are executed against the standards of international law for carrying out his orders."

THE GROUND RULES of war are like the rules of baseball as against, say, the rules of golf or tennis. You try to get away with anything you can.

The United States never ratified the 1925 Geneva Convention against chemical-biological warefare. But in 1943 President Roosevelt pledged that the United States would not use gas-germ weapons except in retaliation. Curiously, this disavowal does not cover flamethrowers, white phosphorus shells and naplam bombs.

In any event, there is not much point in applying logic to war. Executing or even cruelly punishing or humiliating our airmen is bound to arouse the American public and in the long run hurt the North Vietnamese more than they can possibly imagine.

The motto "In God We Trust" first appeared on U.S. coins after April 22, 1864, when Congress passed an act authorizing the coinage of a 2-cent piece bearing the motto. Thereafter, Congress extended its use to other coins.

It's Hard To Understand

Coming: A Strike Wave?

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON — This is the year that is.

That is why we have had the week that was —on the strike front.

This is the year for which American labor has been waiting—be they airline mechanics, electrical workers or construction men.

Victor Riesel

This is the year which will bring the first national electrical industry strike, the year preluding the massive auto and steel walkouts of '67 and '68.

The issue is money. Nothing subtle. Nothing intricate.

No national union chiefs can go back to their rank and file without a big bundle. They would be voted down. The proposed contracts would not be ratified.

Those national airline strike leaders whom we insiders have known, though little known to the public, such as the Machinists' Roy Siemiller and his vice president, Joe Ramsey, are no exceptions.

THE 35,400 airplane mechanics, cleaners, ramp service people and spare parts store clerks would have rebelled if they had not been permitted to strike.

This was known by the White House. And so the President sent word he would not interfere out front or behind the scenes.

The militant mechanics are normally quiet people — gray collar by day, white collar by status, inclination and education by evening.

During the first week of the strike they picketed 'round the clock in 231 cities. Yet there was not a single incident. But they turned out because, skilled though they are, they take home about $120 a week.

They wanted to hit the bricks when their contract ran out three years ago. But they restrained themselves because the big airlines were in trouble. The huge jets were coming in. They cost hundreds of millions. It took self-control for the men to stay on the jobs. But they did.

THEY DID, though they knew the wage scale for auto mechanics in San Francisco was $4.23 an hour. This is the biggest United Airlines base city. But the carriers' pay for mechanics has been $3.52 hourly. And the Machinists decided to ask for a raise of $4.05 an hour.

At the other end of the line, the airline machinists knew that the New York City sanitation truck repairmen earned $4 and more an hour. The strikers read of laborers in the construction fields of New York and northern New Jersey getting $5.05 an hour.

Yet the mechanics, in whose skilled hands rests the safety of flying equipment running so many millions of passenger miles, have been earning far less than their neighbors in the same field. And less than the rates won for the transit mechanics by the Quill rebellion.

AND THEN there are the "lace curtain machinists." These are the skilled tool and dye workers of the big industries. At General Motors they run $4 and more an hour. A new contract at American Can gives the skilled workers $4.06 an hour.

These men are in the auto union. And the United Auto Workers union is the partner of the International Association of Machinists on a score of fronts — especially in the aerospace industry.

So closely have the Machinists' Roy Siemiller and the UAW's Walter Reuther been working recently that the Detroiter asked the former to go out to the latter's national convention and help induct the officers.

The Auto Workers have a cost-of-living increase clause. The machinists do not. The auto union has more holidays for its people, more benefits, more hospitalization, more permanent security pay.

Unions can't live cheek by jowl without one rank and file's demanding what the other has.

SO LOOK NOT at the airline strike as a one-shot. It's a symptom. It proves that militancy lies not only in the Teamsters or in the construction trades. It lies in the skilled trades, too.

It's their year. They want it now. Or they want to prepare now to get it in the next 90 days in one industry—electrical—or in little more than a year in "auto."

The airline walkout is notice to those who believe abstractly in the right to strike that they must now expect and tolerate strikes—by any name, in any field—be it in hospitals, fire houses, transit depots or in weaponry.

The rank and file wants more money—and it wants it now.

Human Welfare

By David Lawrence

That's Our Biggest Problem

The biggest single cause of most of America's domestic troubles is population growth. And the most significant piece of information that could be conveyed to the American people today is the effect of population change on the future of our existing system of government.

David Lawrence

Within the last few days three noteworthy reports have been issued which give the results of research on the need for a sweeping reorganization of federal, state and city governments. The purpose is to adapt the Constitution of the United States to meet rapidly changing conditions that will vitally affect the welfare of all the people and their children.

The first of the three reports just issued was produced after considerable research and is sponsored by the Committee for Economic Development — a nonpartisan organization comprised of prominent citizens from different parts of the country. The inquiry was headed up by Marion B. Folsom, secretary of health, education and welfare in the Eisenhower administration. It calls for a reduction in the number of local governmental units from 80,000 to 16,000 and would confine popular election to members of policy-making bodies only. This would reduce considerably the 500,000 locally elected officials, thus putting the emphasis on trained persons for administrative posts.

ANOTHER PROPOSAL from the same report urges modernization of the 50 state constitutions and a revision of the terms of federal and state grants-in-aid.

The second of these studies was prepared by the Republican Policy Committee of the Senate under the chairmanship of Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa. It discusses the effect on politics that has come from the expansion and redistribution of population and points out that voters are confronted by urgent problems in metropolitan centers. Emphasis is placed on the headaches arising from traffic congestion and increased taxes, as well as water, sewage and public-transportation problems.

The study notes that there has been a mass migration of middle and upper-income people from the big cities to the suburbs and analyzes the effect on the makeup of political parties.

The third report — issued by the Republican Coordinating Committee after an intensive study by a staff of experts — points out in unequivocal language the dangers of complacency and indifference in the face of the population revolution.

The committee was headed by former Rep. Robert Taft, Jr., of Ohio. It speaks of the erosion of representative government as responsibility "rests in the hands of administrators who cannot be brought to account by the constituency they may be serving hundreds and thousands of miles away."

The conclusion reached is that regional planning and, in some instances, "a total merger of governmental units into a new or existing area-wide government may be the required answer."

THE TAFT REPORT calls attention to the fact that almost two-thirds of all Americans live today in metropolitan areas and by 1980—only 14 years from now — America may be three-fourths urban and suburban.

Plainly there will be, as the study reveals, a big need for the sharing of federal income tax receipts with the local governments, as they obviously cannot today collect enough money to handle the huge problems they face.

Part of the answer may be in setting up regional governments which would exercise some of the functions now being undertaken by the federal government but which would be more effectively handled in co-operation with city and county governments in a given area.

This is not a new idea. This correspondent was impressed with it when similar proposals were made in the 1930s in addresses by various university professors before the American Political Science Association.

The writer also pointed out in a dispatch on Aug. 3, 1965, that "the boys and girls who are 10 years old today will, when they are 55 years old, be living in a country populated by 438 million people — more than twice as many as today."

As suggested in that same article, the redistribution of population necessitates a new system of regional compacts, each applying to several states.

This is not a political or partisan question but an urgent problem of human welfare in the wealthiest country in the world whose system of constitutional government needs to be adjusted to the startling facts of population change.

This 'n That

The small, goatlike animal known as the chamois and from which we obtain the familiar leather cloth, inhabits the mountains of Asia and Europe, and is so agile that it can easily clear at a bound crevices 18 feet in width.

The shrew, one of the smallest animals in the world, eats a greater amount of concentrated food for its size than any other animal. If deprived of food, the shrew will die of starvation within a half-day.

The atomic-powered submarine "Triton," in 1960, traveled under water all the way around the world, following roughly Magellan's route, and the 41,519-mile trip was covered in 84 days.

In 1910, among both sexes the life expectancy at birth was 50 years. Latest estimates reveal it to be 69.7 years now.

Control Of Urban Rioting

We don't know as much about the anatomy of riots as we are going to need to know in this Republic.

Lack of knowledge shows up in all investigations of riots that have occurred in the past and in the handling of many current riots. Ignorance was conspicuous in the handling of the Los Angeles rioting in 1965, for example.

The policemen and politicians responsible for making decisions did not know clearly what they were trying to do, or what the consequences of some of their decisions were certain to be.

Serious as that was and could be again, the most frightening thing about riots is the evidence they originate in the hopelessness of urban life for masses of human beings at the bottom of the economic scale.

People crowded into bad housing, trapped in depravity and made desperate by hopelessness are going to run amuck.

No one can predict what trifling incident will trigger the trouble.

No one can predict what form the trouble will take when it explodes, how long it will last, how far the shock waves will travel before they subside.

Police authority and the National Guard can figure out ways to cope with riots until their filing cases are full, but what needs to be coped with are conditions that cause riots.

The best viewpoint on conditions that cause trouble to start in cities could be found among experts in animal husbandry.

They know better than to crowd too many living creatures into too small a space.

Any intelligent human being who has worked with animals knows better than to expect good results from bad food and bad conditions.

Experts in animal husbandry would turn in their credentials if they tolerated a fraction of the bad practices routine in the slums of the nation's large cities.

What it adds up to is that we know more about chickens in this country than we know about people. We take better care of horses than we take of human beings.

More people are concerned with being kind to dumb animals than in being kind to their fellowmen. As one politician said last summer when called out for riot duty in Watts, where he never had been before, "Do people really live here? Do they really eat this garbage?"

When we know as much about the anatomy of riots as we need to know, we will put a limit on how many human beings can be crowded into so many feet of urban space. Inspectors will enforce minimum standards of shelter and nourishment.

There won't be any more slums — because until there are no more slums there will continue to be riots. And we can't afford riots.

Can there be cities without slums? Assuredly not, unless drastic changes are made in what cities will permit.

How many riots will it take to spur the drastic changes?

Chicago's Alert Action

Perhaps if it hadn't been their city's grisliest slaying in a long time, the Chicago police and a number of observant and cooperative citizens would not have performed so promptly and brilliantly in spotting and jailing a prime suspect in a massacre of eight student nurses last week.

As it turned out, the massacre set off one of the finest demonstrations of police work and private citizen alertness within memory. The misgivings of all skeptics who remembered that a Chicago incident, the jailing of Danny Escobedo, who had been arraigned on suspicion of murder in July 1964, brought a climax to the U.S. Supreme Court's doubts about long-continued scorn of the Fifth Amendment, were quieted.

That precedent-setting decision paved the way for this year's harshly criticized Supreme Court ruling that a prisoner's right to counsel and to refuse to testify against himself is absolute, not conditional.

When the massacre of the nurses occurred, Supreme Court critics were waiting for a chance to claim Chicago police would be hampered in pinning the crime on a suspect because they would be unable to elicit answers to their questions; they would be unable "to obtain a confession."

They think they have a prime suspect. Good police work and alertness by a number of citizens, including a young medical doctor, gave them the man they were looking for within a few days. No self-incrimination will be needed. None would have been risked in any event. Chicago is taking the Supreme Court ruling at face value.

If all police departments were able to act so quickly and efficiently, if all private citizens were as alert as the ones who helped the police in Chicago, self-incrimination would never have become the chief reliance of so many crime investigators.

Things Of Beauty

State boundaries mean little where beauty is concerned. Beauty is beauty where ever it may be found.

It is with a sense of pride, therefore, that the entire tri-state district applauds the selection of Miss Judith Skunda of Weirton as "Miss West Virginia."

While we in Ohio, naturally, cannot help but have a strong feeling toward Sharon Elaine Phillian of Delaware who will represent the Buckeye State at Atlantic City, a victory by Miss West Virginia would be more than acceptable.

Before ringing down the curtain on the Ohio finals, once more our congratulations to Debra Barefield who carried the banner of Columbiana County at Cedar Point. The final outcome in no way has diminished our admiration for the Lisbon girl who was both a credit to herself and to those she represented so graciously.

Is Help On The Way?

Four visitors from Africa—two from the Malagasy Republic, two from Senegal — were taken by their escort from Wooster, O., to see conditions in Cleveland's acutely depressed Hough area.

This was part of their tour of the United States under sponsorship of the U.S. State Department, so they could see how things were being taken care of in the United States.

They were shocked by what they saw in Cleveland's Hough area, a place badly run down, with residents so poor and desperate it is the city's prime welfare and police problem.

The poverty they saw confused them. They know poverty is worldwide, but the kind of poverty they saw in the heart of Ohio's largest city is not worldwide. It is the kind that can be seen in every large city in the United States—the kind that erodes human hope and thus breeds problems that cannot be solved by appeals to the better nature of the inhabitants.

These are the problems that make human beings run amuck in street riots.

These are the problems that necessitate the use of armed force — the problems that make summertime a season of terror for police authority in cities.

When the four visitors from Africa go home, will they institute action to send help to the United States, which sorely needs it?

Ground Rules Of Warfare

By Richard Spong

The ground rules of war require prisoners to be protected against violence, intimidation, insult, and public curiosity. The North Vietnamese already have violated the rules by marching dozens of captured American airmen through the streets of Hanoi under armed escort. A real rupture of the rules will occur if, as suggested in wire dispatches from other Communist capitals, the airmen are put on trial — perhaps on July 20 — as "war criminals."

The 1949 Geneva Convention on Prisoners of War which forbids such treatment applies to "all cases of declared war or any other armed conflict which may arise between two or more of the high contracting parties, even if the state of war is not recognized by one of them." North Viet Nam signed the accord on June 5, 1957.

WHAT IS ATROCITY and what is playing the game by the rules in the agonizing illogic of modern war is a dilemma usually reserved for civilians. At least one GI prisoner of war has been murdered by the Viet Cong in reprisal for the execution in Saigon of VC terrorists.

On the other hand, there have been many reports published of atrocities — some of them against POW's — by the South Vietnamese and even by our own troops. What happens in the heat of battle is perhaps understandable, if not excusable.

Americans have a history of naivete about war atrocities. Secretary of State Dean Rusk on July 14 warned Hanoi that abuse of the captured airmen "would be a very, very grave development indeed."

The question implicit is the mood of the American people and of President Johnson. The war so far has been conducted with an almost clinical detachment. For most Americans — except those immediately wounded in flesh or spirit — it has been almost a spectator war. But should the pilots be tried and executed, the nation's anger is almost certain to be loosed. The Washington Post warns: "North Viet Nam will invite terrible retaliation if it proceeds to try and punish captured American pilots."

The Baltimore Sun goes further: "Such moves would arouse demands in the United States for more intensive bombing of North Viet Nam in retaliation. Public opinion would be inflamed, as in past wars. A rational settlement of the war would be made more difficult."

James Reston states the case most explicitly: "Nobody who knows anything about Lyndon Johnson can have much doubt about the severity of his reaction if the fliers he sent into North Viet Nam are executed against the standards of international law for carrying out his orders."

THE GROUND RULES of war are like the rules of baseball as against, say, the rules of golf or tennis. You try to get away with anything you can.

The United States never ratified the 1925 Geneva Convention against chemical-biological warefare. But in 1943 President Roosevelt pledged that the United States would not use gas-germ weapons except in retaliation. Curiously, this disavowal does not cover flamethrowers, white phosphorus shells and naplam bombs.

In any event, there is not much point in applying logic to war. Executing or even cruelly punishing or humiliating our airmen is bound to arouse the American public and in the long run hurt the North Vietnamese more than they can possibly imagine.

The motto "In God We Trust" first appeared on U.S. coins after April 22, 1864, when Congress passed an act authorizing the coinage of a 2-cent piece bearing the motto. Thereafter, Congress extended its use to other coins.

That's Our Biggest Problem

The biggest single cause of most of America's domestic troubles is population growth. And the most significant piece of information that could be conveyed to the American people today is the effect of population change on the future of our existing system of government.

Council Plans Steps To Buy Old Car Barn

Council agreed last night to meet in special session next Monday night to consider legislation authorizing the city to acquire the former Valley Motor Transit Co. property on Pennsylvania Ave. for $95,000 for use as a storage and maintenance building for all municipal rolling stock, as well as materials and supplies.

The action was taken after three appraisers appointed late last week by Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey submitted a written report showing the structure and real estate are worth an estimated $103,000.

The appraisal was made by Alwyn C. Purinton Jr., president-secretary of the Potters Savings and Loan Co., Floyd Cox, local contractor, and Standley T. Hilbert, real estate and insurance agent. The $103,000 valuation represents the average of the figures they arrived at individually, their letter said.

Council then approved a motion asking Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper to prepare enabling legislation for the purchase. The property sits on more than three acres of ground on Pennsylvania Ave. at Dewey Ave. The main two-story brick structure, once a car barn and later a bus barn, has 39,778 square feet of space on its main floor. There are three or four other structures on the property, several of them sizable.

The appraisers' letter suggested that the city "take immediate steps" to acquire the property, asserting there is no other site inside the city limits with so much space under roof. The letter said the building would be "ideal for maintenance, storage and office space."

Vodrey read Council a letter from Charles Carroll, an officer of the Carroll Corp., offering the city the former Carroll Motor Sales building at 740 Dresden Ave. for $100,000. The letter said the structure has 18,000 square feet under roof.

The decision to purchase the old car barn dates back several months, when it was initiated by Mayor George E. Willshaw. He urged that the city should acquire a structure where it could store all its rolling stock and supplies under one roof. In connection with the plan for a central garage, he said the administration will undertake a regular program of preventive maintenance to extend the life of city equipment.

If the city acquires the Pennsylvania Ave. property, it should sell the comparatively new structure on E. 2nd St. now used as an incinerator department garage, Councilman Floyd Murray said. That would assure that all rolling stock would be under one roof and, in addition, the money realized from the sale could be applied toward the purchase of the old car barn, he said.

"I suggested that the city sell the 2nd St. building to an industry or a person interested in establishing a garage there," Murray said.

At the same special meeting, Council may consider legislation authorizing the purchase of 150 acres of land on the Y. & O. Rd. near Rock Camp as the site for a new sanitary landfill for disposal of garabage and trash.

Solicitor Cooper, reporting on recent negotiations, said a price of $10,000 has been agreed upon with the owner, William Powell, a local real estate agent. The property once was a strip mine site.

The new dump will replace the present landfill in Bloomfield, which has been filled virtually to capacity.

The mayor said Council will be advised as soon as Cooper has drafted enabling legislation for the purchase of the property from Powell. Council agreed to meet July 25 at 7 p. m. to consider the legislation on purchase of the car barn and perhaps the ordinance for acquisition of the new landfill site.

Astronauts

miles, eclipsing a 307.5-mile mark held by two Soviet cosmonauts.

The burst of power briefly jolted the astronauts out of their weightless world, subjecting them to a force of about one G — equal to the gravity force on earth.

"That was really something," exclaimed Navy Cmdr. Young when the big 16,000-pound-thrust engine ignited. "We got a real spectacular tail-off."

Air Force Maj. Collins added: "When that baby lights up, there's no doubt about it."

More excitement lay ahead today, with extra-vehicular activity by Collins a highlight.

About 4:15 p.m. (EST) Collins was to conduct a stand-up excursion, opening his hatch and poking the upper half of his body into space to conduct scientific and photographic experiments.

Collins plans to step outside the spacecraft Wednesday for a 55-minute stroll on a 50-foot lifeline. If Gemini 10 is able to rendezvous with the Gemini 8 Agena, he will walk over to it for some experiments.

"It all depends on our fuel supply whether we'll be able to rendezvous with the 8 Agena," Lunney said. "Because the 8 Agena is a passive satellite with no battery power, it will be much more difficult than the rendezvous with the 10 Agena."

LUNNEY said that after the six-hour chase, Gemini 10 had only 35 per cent of its maneuvering fuel remaining, instead of the anticipated 70 per cent.

The greatest propellant usage appeared to come during the final half hour of the rendezvous, just before the docking.

"We used quite a bit," said Young, "but I didn't think it was that much."

Astronaut L. Gordon Cooper, veteran of two space flights, said the excess use of fuel may be just part of learning process on how much is required to conduct complex space maneuvers.

As one remedy, the control center told the astronauts to remain hooked to the Agena longer than the 16 hours planned. In addition to the 16,000-pound-thrust main engine, the Agena has two smaller engines with 16 and 200 pounds of thrust.

Lunney said the astronauts could use these for some maneuvers, including stabilizing Gemini 10 for Collins' stand-up activity.

This would conserve fuel in Gemini 10's 25-and 100-pound thrusters, which would have to be used for the rendezvous with Agena 8. By remaining docked, the astronauts will not be able to accomplish two more linkups that had been scheduled today.

The only other disappointment was the failure of Young and Collins to calculate accurately their rendezvous maneuvers with star-sightings and a spacecraft computer — something that was being attempted for the first time. Instead, they had to rely on ground computations.

Officials said it is hoped the astronauts learned something about on-board navigation to improve future efforts.

THE FLIGHT started flawlessly with a double launching from Cape Kennedy Monday afternoon. An Atlas darted off its launch pad right on schedule at 3:40 p.m. and hurled the Agena 10 into a near perfect circular orbit ranging from 183 to 187 miles.

A Titan 2 thundered skyward 100 minutes later to propel Gemini 10 into a planned elliptical path ranging from 100 to 168 miles.

"It's beautiful," Young commented as their tiny ship blazed into space.

"Let's conclude this simulation and start the debriefing," quipped Collins, referring to the long weeks of training for the flight.

During the first orbit, Young reported company.

"We've got two bright objects up here in our orbital path," he said. "I don't think they're stars. We're going right along with them."

Minutes later, he said: "They just disappeared. I guess they were satellites of some kind.

The Mission Control Center later said it was believed the objects were remnants of America's heaviest satellite — a 29-ton Saturn second stage that exploded in space July 5.

Otherwise there was very little space talk from the pilots as they concentrated on the on-board calculations and the tricky maneuvers designed to hunt down and catch the Agena.

When the astronauts' calculations proved inaccurate, the ground gave them directions and they carried out the assignment without a hitch.

After five hours they closed in on the Agena 185 miles above the South Atlantic.

"WE'RE HERE," radioed Young as the two vehicles raced along within a few feet of each other at more than 17,500 miles an hour.

have captured three North Vietnamese and 68 weapons, the spokesman said.

In the central highlands, units of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division's 3rd Brigade battled a North Vietnamese battalion for three hours Monday less than a mile from the Cambodian border and 37 miles southwest of Pleiku. A spokesman said the infantrymen killed seven Communists.

While the fighting picked up against North Vietnamese units in the south, U.S. pilots kept up their attacks on North Viet Nam's oil reserves, hitting 11 storage areas scattered from 44 miles north of Hanoi to the Badon depot 65 miles from the 17th Parallel, which was struck for the second successive day.

The jets eluded 13 surface-to-air missiles within 45 miles of Hanoi and five miles of Haiphong, a spokesman said.

Air Force Capt. James R. Mitchell, 36, of Ogden, Utah, reported touching off an orange fire ball at the Badon depot, sending up a column of black smoke 6,000 feet.

American planes also dropped .8 million leaflets on North Viet Nam Monday in the continuing propaganda war.

In the South, U.S. Air Force B52s rained bombs on a suspected Communist concentration 70 miles northwest of Da Nang. Other American planes flew 457 single-strike sorties Monday, killing possibly 32 Viet Cong and hitting 373 huts, fortifications and buildings, a spokesman said. Vietnamese pilots flew 246 sorties.

Three Are Killed As Car, Rig Ram

HAMBURG, Pa. (AP) — A head-on collision between an auto and a tractor-trailer on Route 22 near here has killed three persons.

Police said the impact of Monday's collision which killed three Allentown women threw tractor - trailer driver Arthur Starkes, 24, of Charlottesville, Va., out of the cab and under the truck as it burst into flames.

A passenger, Leroy Tinsley, 22, of Pittsburgh, leaped from the cab and pulled Starkes from under the blazing truck, police said. Tinsley was admitted to Reading Hospital with a fractured left leg.

Council Plans Steps To Buy Old Car Barn

Council agreed last night to meet in special session next Monday night to consider legislation authorizing the city to acquire the former Valley Motor Transit Co. property on Pennsylvania Ave. for $95,000 for use as a storage and maintenance building for all municipal rolling stock, as well as materials and supplies.

The action was taken after three appraisers appointed late last week by Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey submitted a written report showing the structure and real estate are worth an estimated $103,000.

Astronauts

miles, eclipsing a 307.5-mile mark held by two Soviet cosmonauts.

The burst of power briefly jolted the astronauts out of their weightless world, subjecting them to a force of about one G — equal to the gravity force on earth.

"That was really something," exclaimed Navy Cmdr. Young when the big 16,000-pound-thrust engine ignited. "We got a real spectacular tail-off."

Air Force Maj. Collins added: "When that baby lights up, there's no doubt about it."

More excitement lay ahead today, with extra-vehicular activity by Collins a highlight.

About 4:15 p.m. (EST) Collins was to conduct a stand-up excursion, opening his hatch and poking the upper half of his body into space to conduct scientific and photographic experiments.

Collins plans to step outside the spacecraft Wednesday for a 55-minute stroll on a 50-foot lifeline. If Gemini 10 is able to rendezvous with the Gemini 8 Agena, he will walk over to it for some experiments.

"It all depends on our fuel supply whether we'll be able to rendezvous with the 8 Agena," Lunney said. "Because the 8 Agena is a passive satellite with no battery power, it will be much more difficult than the rendezvous with the 10 Agena."

LUNNEY said that after the six-hour chase, Gemini 10 had only 35 per cent of its maneuvering fuel remaining, instead of the anticipated 70 per cent.

The greatest propellant usage appeared to come during the final half hour of the rendezvous, just before the docking.

"We used quite a bit," said Young, "but I didn't think it was that much."

Astronaut L. Gordon Cooper, veteran of two space flights, said the excess use of fuel may be just part of learning process on how much is required to conduct complex space maneuvers.

As one remedy, the control center told the astronauts to remain hooked to the Agena longer than the 16 hours planned. In addition to the 16,000-pound-thrust main engine, the Agena has two smaller engines with 16 and 200 pounds of thrust.

Lunney said the astronauts could use these for some maneuvers, including stabilizing Gemini 10 for Collins' stand-up activity.

This would conserve fuel in Gemini 10's 25-and 100-pound thrusters, which would have to be used for the rendezvous with Agena 8. By remaining docked, the astronauts will not be able to accomplish two more linkups that had been scheduled today.

The only other disappointment was the failure of Young and Collins to calculate accurately their rendezvous maneuvers with star-sightings and a spacecraft computer — something that was being attempted for the first time. Instead, they had to rely on ground computations.

Officials said it is hoped the astronauts learned something about on-board navigation to improve future efforts.

THE FLIGHT started flawlessly with a double launching from Cape Kennedy Monday afternoon. An Atlas darted off its launch pad right on schedule at 3:40 p.m. and hurled the Agena 10 into a near perfect circular orbit ranging from 183 to 187 miles.

A Titan 2 thundered skyward 100 minutes later to propel Gemini 10 into a planned elliptical path ranging from 100 to 168 miles.

"It's beautiful," Young commented as their tiny ship blazed into space.

"Let's conclude this simulation and start the debriefing," quipped Collins, referring to the long weeks of training for the flight.

During the first orbit, Young reported company.

"We've got two bright objects up here in our orbital path," he said. "I don't think they're stars. We're going right along with them."

Minutes later, he said: "They just disappeared. I guess they were satellites of some kind.

The Mission Control Center later said it was believed the objects were remnants of America's heaviest satellite — a 29-ton Saturn second stage that exploded in space July 5.

Otherwise there was very little space talk from the pilots as they concentrated on the on-board calculations and the tricky maneuvers designed to hunt down and catch the Agena.

When the astronauts' calculations proved inaccurate, the ground gave them directions and they carried out the assignment without a hitch.

After five hours they closed in on the Agena 185 miles above the South Atlantic.

"WE'RE HERE," radioed Young as the two vehicles raced along within a few feet of each other at more than 17,500 miles an hour.

have captured three North Vietnamese and 68 weapons, the spokesman said.

In the central highlands, units of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division's 3rd Brigade battled a North Vietnamese battalion for three hours Monday less than a mile from the Cambodian border and 37 miles southwest of Pleiku. A spokesman said the infantrymen killed seven Communists.

While the fighting picked up against North Vietnamese units in the south, U.S. pilots kept up their attacks on North Viet Nam's oil reserves, hitting 11 storage areas scattered from 44 miles north of Hanoi to the Badon depot 65 miles from the 17th Parallel, which was struck for the second successive day.

The jets eluded 13 surface-to-air missiles within 45 miles of Hanoi and five miles of Haiphong, a spokesman said.

Air Force Capt. James R. Mitchell, 36, of Ogden, Utah, reported touching off an orange fire ball at the Badon depot, sending up a column of black smoke 6,000 feet.

American planes also dropped .8 million leaflets on North Viet Nam Monday in the continuing propaganda war.

In the South, U.S. Air Force B52s rained bombs on a suspected Communist concentration 70 miles northwest of Da Nang. Other American planes flew 457 single-strike sorties Monday, killing possibly 32 Viet Cong and hitting 373 huts, fortifications and buildings, a spokesman said. Vietnamese pilots flew 246 sorties.

Three Are Killed As Car, Rig Ram

HAMBURG, Pa. (AP) — A head-on collision between an auto and a tractor-trailer on Route 22 near here has killed three persons.

Police said the impact of Monday's collision which killed three Allentown women threw tractor - trailer driver Arthur Starkes, 24, of Charlottesville, Va., out of the cab and under the truck as it burst into flames.

A passenger, Leroy Tinsley, 22, of Pittsburgh, leaped from the cab and pulled Starkes from under the blazing truck, police said. Tinsley was admitted to Reading Hospital with a fractured left leg.

Ohio To Open Crime Lab At Kent State U. Shortly

LONDON, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's top criminal investigation unit has decided it can't keep itself down on the farm any longer.

The Ohio Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation (BCI), which has operated from the state prison farm nearby for 45 years, plans to open a one-man laboratory at Kent State University this summer.

The new lab is the first of four the BCI hopes to set up in the four geographical quarters of Ohio in an effort to provide quicker service to local law enforcement agencies.

"This new unit at KSU will cut down our response time," says Supt. Martin W. Mosely, a former FBI agent. "Now, operating only out of London, it sometimes takes us as much as two or three hours after we're called to arrive at the scene of a crime."

If the Kent State lab is a success, it will be enlarged and another field station will be opened at Bowling Green State University. The BCI hopes eventually to set up another lab at Ohio University in Athens and a fourth station somewhere in southwestern Ohio.

The Kent State site was chosen because northeastern Ohio has a relatively high crime rate, Mosely said. Kent State, which offers several criminology courses, donated space for the laboratory.

When it opens, the Kent State station will provide basic crime laboratory services to local law enforcement agencies. The BCI says local officers will no longer have to go to London for analyses of plaster casts, bullets and other clues found in investigation of crimes.

The BCI was started in 1921 to keep a central fingerprint file for the state. The bureau's files have grown to include three million fingerprints and the BCI's functions have grown as well.

In 1937, it added a criminal laboratory and a gun identification department. The BCI now has 52 staff members, and their services are available to local departments on request.

Midland Lets Contract For Building Job

A contract for a garage and storage space at the Midland Water Treatment Plant was awarded the George Studen Co. of Midland for $12,200 at a meeting of the Midland Municipal Authority Monday night.

No action was taken on a contract for construction of a storage area at the sewage disposal plant.

In a letter from the Beaver Trust Co., the authority was advised funds are available to match an Economic Development Grant of $171,000 for enlargement of the borough's water system to serve expanding industry.

After preparation of plans and specifications for the project by Michael Baker Jr. Inc. of Rochester, consulting engineers, bids will be awarded.

The authority said it will be about two or three months before the procedures are completed and actual work starts.

Dr. Zanvel Sigal, vice chairman, presided in the absence of Rudolph Presutti, chairman.

Presutti and his committee met July 13 with Reginald Brown, representative of Local 437 of the Utility Workers of America, concerning changes sought by the union on a new two year contract.

No decision was reached on proposed hourly wage increases and vacation plans, the authority said.

Faulty air - conditioning at the authority offices has been repaired by the Pitt Construction Co. of Pittsburgh.

Payment was approved for D. L. Kollar Co. of East McKeesport for installation of a water line on 3rd St. between Beaver and Penn Aves. to the booster station.

Also approved for payment were water department bills totaling $19,263, sewage department bills amounting to $2,318, and parking department bills of $427.

The next meeting will be Aug. 15.

The Agency for International Development is assisting in the development of 50 water supply projects in foreign countries to provide irrigation for cropland.

Wilson Returns Home In Midst Of Economic Crisis

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson returned empty-handed from his Moscow peace mission today to face Britain's worst economic crisis in 17 years.

As Wilson landed at London Airport after a three-day visit to the Soviet capital, financial markets in the city were quieter than usual.

The pound sterling was having a more comfortable ride on the foreign exchanges, and the rate moved up a little at the opening. The stock exchange showed small recoveries, but later shares began to look a little uneasy again.

Wilson failed to persuade Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin to intercede on behalf of U.S. fliers held by North Viet Nam and also failed to ease the Soviet refusal to join Britain in calling for peace talks.

Wilson called a Cabinet meeting to complete the economic package he will present to Parliament Wednesday in an attempt to save the British pound from devaluation.

Dr. Singer last week examined 25 Beaver Local drivers, 10 from Southern Local and 15 from Lisbon and Fairfield-Waterford District. There are no makeup dates, Dr. Singer said. Drivers unable to attend when their school was scheduled are advised to get a physical certificate from their family doctor.

Jack M. Skidmore 26, of Follansbee also was fined $10 and costs after being charged with failure to stop at a stop sign by Hancock County sheriff's deputies.

Schools

on as a separate item by the board.

The materials fees for all elementary students will be $1 per student per year. In the high school the fees will be chemistry, biology, office practice, $2; physics and art, $1; typing, $1.50; home economics, $2.50; wood shop and metal shop, $3.50.

In junior high, the cost will be ninth-grade home economics, $2.50; seventh- and eighth-grade home economics, $1.75; ninth-grade art and general seventh-grade shop, $3; seventh- and eighth-grade art, $2, and eighth- and ninth-grade general shop, $3.50.

Students not enrolled in any of these activities in either junior or senior high schools will be required to pay a $1 materials fees for paper, supplies, etc., Blair said. Some fees already were in effect, but elementary students have never been charged for supplies.

The expenditures for textbooks and educational supplies will be reduced. No new texts will be purchased other than those necessary to supplement present ones. This savings was set at $13,000.

Relative to the closing of Klondyke School, Blair said more time has been devoted to this situation than any other. A delegation of parents from the area appeared before the board previously protesting the closing.

Blair said Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey has promised two additional school crossing guards along Harvey Ave. A letter has been presented to City Council requesting the guards, Blair said.

Children residing on Ohio and Michigan Aves. will be required to cross Harvey Ave. at one of three locations in order to get to Neville School. At present there is a guard at the Putnam St. crossing. Guards also will be placed at Myrtle Ave. and Elizabeth St., Blair said.

About 96 children are effected by the move. Blair said the school will not be reopened even if the levy passes, since all present elementary buildings will be closed when the new schools are constructed.

BLAIR SAID efforts will be made to have sidewalk repairs made in one area along Harvey Ave. and that it has been suggested that a "hold" traffic light be installed to give the children more time to cross.

He said the Snyder Bus Co. has offered to provide bus transportion from the area for those who want to pay to have their children ride.

The closing of the school will save $20,956, plus the salary of a custodian and other expenses, Blair said.

Commenting on the curtailments, Blair said they are necessary to maintain a professional staff and the system cannot permit itself to get into a position where it would be necessary to close the schools.

He said the board has gone over the curtailments with Dr. Lewis Harris, executive secretary of the State Board of Education, who made some of the recommendations.

A resolution probably will be passed at the next board meeting to place a 3.5-mill levy on the November ballot. If the levy is passed in November, the bus transportation will be returned the following week, Blair said.

"Smith said, "I deplore the curtailments, but I hope the people understand." Mrs. Dunlop said, "It is very distressing."

Wilson Returns Home In Midst Of Economic Crisis

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson returned empty-handed from his Moscow peace mission today to face Britain's worst economic crisis in 17 years.

As Wilson landed at London Airport after a three-day visit to the Soviet capital, financial markets in the city were quieter than usual.

The pound sterling was having a more comfortable ride on the foreign exchanges, and the rate moved up a little at the opening. The stock exchange showed small recoveries, but later shares began to look a little uneasy again.

Wilson failed to persuade Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin to intercede on behalf of U.S. fliers held by North Viet Nam and also failed to ease the Soviet refusal to join Britain in calling for peace talks.

Wilson called a Cabinet meeting to complete the economic package he will present to Parliament Wednesday in an attempt to save the British pound from devaluation.

School Bus Drivers Get Physical Exams

LISBON — The County Health Department gave physical examinations to 76 school bus drivers in a five-day program which ended this morning.

Fifteen United Local drivers received exams this morning from Dr. M. K. Singer, county health commissioner, at the Courthouse. Eleven drivers from Columbiana, Leetonia and the County School for Retarded Children reported Monday.

Dr. Singer last week examined 25 Beaver Local drivers, 10 from Southern Local and 15 from Lisbon and Fairfield-Waterford District. There are no makeup dates, Dr. Singer said. Drivers unable to attend when their school was scheduled are advised to get a physical certificate from their family doctor.

Jack M. Skidmore 26, of Follansbee also was fined $10 and costs after being charged with failure to stop at a stop sign by Hancock County sheriff's deputies.

Schools

on as a separate item by the board.

The materials fees for all elementary students will be $1 per student per year. In the high school the fees will be chemistry, biology, office practice, $2; physics and art, $1; typing, $1.50; home economics, $2.50; wood shop and metal shop, $3.50.

In junior high, the cost will be ninth-grade home economics, $2.50; seventh- and eighth-grade home economics, $1.75; ninth-grade art and general seventh-grade shop, $3; seventh- and eighth-grade art, $2, and eighth- and ninth-grade general shop, $3.50.

Students not enrolled in any of these activities in either junior or senior high schools will be required to pay a $1 materials fees for paper, supplies, etc., Blair said. Some fees already were in effect, but elementary students have never been charged for supplies.

The expenditures for textbooks and educational supplies will be reduced. No new texts will be purchased other than those necessary to supplement present ones. This savings was set at $13,000.

Relative to the closing of Klondyke School, Blair said more time has been devoted to this situation than any other. A delegation of parents from the area appeared before the board previously protesting the closing.

Blair said Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey has promised two additional school crossing guards along Harvey Ave. A letter has been presented to City Council requesting the guards, Blair said.

Children residing on Ohio and Michigan Aves. will be required to cross Harvey Ave. at one of three locations in order to get to Neville School. At present there is a guard at the Putnam St. crossing. Guards also will be placed at Myrtle Ave. and Elizabeth St., Blair said.

About 96 children are effected by the move. Blair said the school will not be reopened even if the levy passes, since all present elementary buildings will be closed when the new schools are constructed.

BLAIR SAID efforts will be made to have sidewalk repairs made in one area along Harvey Ave. and that it has been suggested that a "hold" traffic light be installed to give the children more time to cross.

He said the Snyder Bus Co. has offered to provide bus transportion from the area for those who want to pay to have their children ride.

The closing of the school will save $20,956, plus the salary of a custodian and other expenses, Blair said.

Commenting on the curtailments, Blair said they are necessary to maintain a professional staff and the system cannot permit itself to get into a position where it would be necessary to close the schools.

He said the board has gone over the curtailments with Dr. Lewis Harris, executive secretary of the State Board of Education, who made some of the recommendations.

A resolution probably will be passed at the next board meeting to place a 3.5-mill levy on the November ballot. If the levy is passed in November, the bus transportation will be returned the following week, Blair said.

"Smith said, "I deplore the curtailments, but I hope the people understand." Mrs. Dunlop said, "It is very distressing."

Fire Chief's Plan

New Emergency Truck Proposed

Chief Alfred VanDyne asked Council Monday night to provide about $10,000 for purchase of a new emergency truck for the fire department, replacing a similar piece of equipment which is worn out.

The emergency vehicle is used on many types of runs, including resuscitator calls, the chief said. It also is used on minor alarms, "so we don't have to use a $30,000 piece of equipment to put out a fire in a trash receptacle," he said.

The present truck was acquired from the Ohio Power Co. when it was six years old and converted to use by the fire department, the chief said. Equipment now on the emergency truck can be shifted to the new vehicle, he said.

REPLACEMENT parts were called virtually impossible to obtain for the old truck because of its age.

"It's unsafe to drive," the chief added. "When it gets up to 20 miles an hour, it shakes all over."

He pointed out that $8,000 was allocated for a new emergency truck last year, but the money never was spent because no decision was reached on the type of truck that should be bought. He said he believes the new appropriation should be for $10,000. Van Dyne said firemen perform all the maintenance on their trucks, except for major jobs such as changing motors.

Councilman Floyd Murray gave strong support to Van Dyne's suggestion. He cited an instance in which a resuscitator on the emergency truck was used to aid a man who suffered a heart attack and the man later appeared before Council thanking firemen for saving his life.

IN OTHER business, Council filed a letter signed by 44 residents of Holliday, Etruria and Walters Sts. and Oakland Ave. asking Council to ban truck traffic on the four residental streets. The petition was presented by Murray, who said it is a new development in a series of protests that dates back three years.

The residents are opposed to trucks of the S. H. Bell Co. traveling the streets to reach the company's river-front property near Little England, he said. The residents also contended that the trucks do not heed stop signs at intersections.

"I want this company to stay in business," Murray said. "I wish Council would decide what to do." He suggested that the police department check the alleged stop sign violations.

Council then approved a motion to file the letter.

Vodrey said he has received a letter from the State Highway Department with seven pages of regulations explaining how traffic control signs should be erected on outer St. Clair Ave. The principal requirement is a series of signs regulating movement on the three lanes during rush hours, he added.

In the morning rush hour, two lanes will be designated for inbound traffic, with one for outbound movement. In the afternoon rush period, two lanes will be set aside for outbound traffic, with one for inbound movement. Vodrey said he has asked a traffic control manufacturer to send a representative here to confer with him on the signs and lights that will be required.

COUNCILMAN Frank Duffy, reporting for the franchise committee, said John Campbell, operator of the Tri-State Transit Co., has taken over the bus runs of the Inter-City Transit Co. from John Young of East Palestine. Inter-City serves primarily the Calcutta-North Side-Glenmoor area. Duffy said he believes the change will mean improved schedules.

Murray asked if the committee ever has looked into the operation of taxis. He said a city ordinance requires cabs to be equipped with meters to determine fares, but the meters are not working. He also declared that some of the taxis used here are "unsafe."

Duffy said he has heard the same reports and has sought to talk with Al Gloeckner, operator of the Yellow Cab Co. Duffy said he has been unable to contact Gloeckner, but will continue his efforts.

Vodrey reported on a Council request for the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. to clean up its right-of-way along the Horn Switch. He said a track crew cleaned the area in the vicinity of Webber Way, but said it had orders not to work on the stretch near Smith St. because it will be abandoned soon to make way for erection of a new Post Office.

Vodrey also reported that a new street sweeper was delivered to the city Monday, as scheduled, by the Allied Highway Equipment Co. of North Canton. The equipment probably will be in operation by the end of the week, he said. The sweeper was purchased May 31 for $12,920, replacing a similar piece of equipment which was worn out.

COUNCILMAN Robert W. Sample said some residents have heeded a recent Council warning to cut weeds on vacant lots and to repair broken curbs.

"I hope the rest will comply before legislation is enacted to require them to perform the work," he said. "If they fail to comply, the city will do the work and bill them when the ordinance is passed."

Duffy said he has received complaints that the limbs of a tree block the light from a street light at Etruria and Palissey Sts. The complaint was referred to the street committee.

The street committee also was asked to investigate a request for a new street light on Price St. near Pennsylvania Ave. The request was filed in a letter from William W. Jones of 720 Price St. The claims committee was given a $36 bill against the city from George Martin of Hammondsville. He said a city garbage truck hit his car from the rear June 20 while it was halted for a traffic signal at 3rd and Market Sts.

The State Liquor Control Board told Council in a letter it has received an application for a new C-2 (beer carry-out) permit for the Kroger Co. for a store it contemplates opening at Walnut and Minerva Sts. The letter was referred to Mrs. Donna Richards Wilson, Second Ward representative.

Reporting on another similar investigation, Mrs. Wilson said there were no objections to an application from Thomas and Gloria McElroy for a liquor permit for the new Heritage House Motel on E. 3rd St.

Engineer George Bloomgren certified his findings on a petition filed earlier with Council asking installation of a sanitary sewer on Observation St. between Lisbon and Alton Sts. The property owners' signatures represent 280 lineal feet of frontage, equivalent to more than 50 per cent of the abutting property, he said. The petition was turned over to the planning committee.

Another petition was referred to Bloomgren requesting installation of a sanitary sewer from Pepin Alley to Anderson Blvd. It carried 20 signatures.

The meeting opened with invocation by Sample.

McElhaney Quits Chief Constable Post In St. Clair

The resignation of St. Clair Township Chief Constable Lester McElhaney was accepted Monday night by the township trustees.

McElhaney is a retired employe of the former Treadwell Construction Co. at Midland, where he worked for 36 years.

The trustees said applications are being accepted for the post, for which the salary is $100 a month. The township has two other regular constables—Richard Wright of Calcutta and Robert Jones of Glenmoor — whose jobs pay $90 a month.

Fire Chief's Plan

New Emergency Truck Proposed

Chief Alfred VanDyne asked Council Monday night to provide about $10,000 for purchase of a new emergency truck for the fire department, replacing a similar piece of equipment which is worn out.

The emergency vehicle is used on many types of runs, including resuscitator calls, the chief said. It also is used on minor alarms, "so we don't have to use a $30,000 piece of equipment to put out a fire in a trash receptacle," he said.

The present truck was acquired from the Ohio Power Co. when it was six years old and converted to use by the fire department, the chief said. Equipment now on the emergency truck can be shifted to the new vehicle, he said.

REPLACEMENT parts were called virtually impossible to obtain for the old truck because of its age.

"It's unsafe to drive," the chief added. "When it gets up to 20 miles an hour, it shakes all over."

He pointed out that $8,000 was allocated for a new emergency truck last year, but the money never was spent because no decision was reached on the type of truck that should be bought. He said he believes the new appropriation should be for $10,000. Van Dyne said firemen perform all the maintenance on their trucks, except for major jobs such as changing motors.

Councilman Floyd Murray gave strong support to Van Dyne's suggestion. He cited an instance in which a resuscitator on the emergency truck was used to aid a man who suffered a heart attack and the man later appeared before Council thanking firemen for saving his life.

IN OTHER business, Council filed a letter signed by 44 residents of Holliday, Etruria and Walters Sts. and Oakland Ave. asking Council to ban truck traffic on the four residental streets. The petition was presented by Murray, who said it is a new development in a series of protests that dates back three years.

The residents are opposed to trucks of the S. H. Bell Co. traveling the streets to reach the company's river-front property near Little England, he said. The residents also contended that the trucks do not heed stop signs at intersections.

"I want this company to stay in business," Murray said. "I wish Council would decide what to do." He suggested that the police department check the alleged stop sign violations.

Council then approved a motion to file the letter.

Vodrey said he has received a letter from the State Highway Department with seven pages of regulations explaining how traffic control signs should be erected on outer St. Clair Ave. The principal requirement is a series of signs regulating movement on the three lanes during rush hours, he added.

In the morning rush hour, two lanes will be designated for inbound traffic, with one for outbound movement. In the afternoon rush period, two lanes will be set aside for outbound traffic, with one for inbound movement. Vodrey said he has asked a traffic control manufacturer to send a representative here to confer with him on the signs and lights that will be required

COUNCILMAN Frank Duffy, reporting for the franchise committee, said John Campbell, operator of the Tri-State Transit Co., has taken over the bus runs of the Inter-City Transit Co. from John Young of East Palestine. Inter-City serves primarily the Calcutta-North Side-Glenmoor area. Duffy said he believes the change will mean improved schedules.

Murray asked if the committee ever has looked into the operation of taxis. He said a city ordinance requires cabs to be equipped with meters to determine fares, but the meters are not working. He also declared that some of the taxis used here are "unsafe."

Duffy said he has heard the same reports and has sought to talk with Al Gloeckner, operator of the Yellow Cab Co. Duffy said he has been unable to contact Gloeckner, but will continue his efforts.

Vodrey reported on a Council request for the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. to clean up its right-of-way along the Horn Switch. He said a track crew cleaned the area in the vicinity of Webber Way, but said it had orders not to work on the stretch near Smith St. because it will be abandoned soon to make way for erection of a new Post Office.

Vodrey also reported that a new street sweeper was delivered to the city Monday, as scheduled, by the Allied Highway Equipment Co. of North Canton. The equipment probably will be in operation by the end of the week, he said. The sweeper was purchased May 31 for $12,920, replacing a similar piece of equipment which was worn out.

COUNCILMAN Robert W. Sample said some residents have heeded a recent Council warning to cut weeds on vacant lots and to repair broken curbs.

"I hope the rest will comply before legislation is enacted to require them to perform the work," he said. "If they fail to comply, the city will do the work and bill them when the ordinance is passed."

Duffy said he has received complaints that the limbs of a tree block the light from a street light at Etruria and Palissey Sts. The complaint was referred to the street committee.

The street committee also was asked to investigate a request for a new street light on Price St. near Pennsylvania Ave. The request was filed in a letter from William W. Jones of 720 Price St. The claims committee was given a $36 bill against the city from George Martin of Hammondsville. He said a city garbage truck hit his car from the rear June 20 while it was halted for a traffic signal at 3rd and Market Sts.

The State Liquor Control Board told Council in a letter it has received an application for a new C-2 (beer carry-out) permit for the Kroger Co. for a store it contemplates opening at Walnut and Minerva Sts. The letter was referred to Mrs. Donna Richards Wilson, Second Ward representative.

Reporting on another similar investigation, Mrs. Wilson said there were no objections to an application from Thomas and Gloria McElroy for a liquor permit for the new Heritage House Motel on E. 3rd St.

Engineer George Bloomgren certified his findings on a petition filed earlier with Council asking installation of a sanitary sewer on Observation St. between Lisbon and Alton Sts. The property owners' signatures represent 280 lineal feet of frontage, equivalent to more than 50 per cent of the abutting property, he said. The petition was turned over to the planning committee.

Another petition was referred to Bloomgren requesting installation of a sanitary sewer from Pepin Alley to Anderson Blvd. It carried 20 signatures.

The meeting opened with invocation by Sample.

McElhaney Quits Chief Constable Post In St. Clair

The resignation of St. Clair Township Chief Constable Lester McElhaney was accepted Monday night by the township trustees.

McElhaney, 73, constable for six years, submitted his written resignation effective Aug. 1, referring to "some difficulties and other interests." He did not elaborate.

McElhaney is a retired employe of the former Treadwell Construction Co. at Midland, where he worked for 36 years.

The trustees said applications are being accepted for the post, for which the salary is $100 a month. The township has two other regular constables—Richard Wright of Calcutta and Robert Jones of Glenmoor — whose jobs pay $90 a month.

In other action, the trustees awarded an $11,649 contract to the Howard Adams Machinery Co. of Salineville for a new road grader. The terms include the trade-in for the present 1958 machine. Adams was lowest of three bidders.

It was reported the police cruiser has been returned to operation. The vehicle received $488 damage when struck by a pursued motorist on St. Clair Ave. Ext. July 5.

A total of 750 feet of Lower Milton Rd. was accepted in the four-year blacktop program. A street opening permit was granted Dale Krafft of McCoy Ave. for a water line.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN HORN

Playing Vice President

This summer a viewer can play a game of playing a network programming vice president, in a modified way.

He can sit back and look at five one-hour and seven half-hour pilots that never made it and decide for himself why they didn't and why they should have.

The dropped pilots are being launched by ABC in two series.

"PREVIEW TONIGHT," from 8 to 9 on Sundays beginning Aug. 14, will present "Pursue and Destroy" (lone wolf sub on the prowl), "Somewhere in Italy: Company B" (lost patrol in World War II), "The Cliff Dwellers" (A college group 10 years after), "Roaring Camp" (Mining town Western), and "Great Bible Adventures" (the story of Joseph from slave to leader).

"Summer Fun" is half-hour comedy, situation and otherwise, booked for Fridays at 8 p.m. starting Friday.

Viewer enjoyment in making like a program chief is curtailed, of course, by the fact that the available summertime pilots are losers. For the winners that became series, the curious will have to wait until fall.

WITH THE GOLDEN anniversary of the Russian revolution on the horizon (1917-1967), all of the networks are getting into the act of documenting that cataclysm of modern history.

Latest activity's is ABC's.

Producer Tom Wolf now is in Moscow talking over a contemplated documentary with the Russians to see what Soviet film is available and what original shooting will be permitted in the U.S.S.R.

While there he may bump into producer Arthur Barron, who's doing the same kind of preliminary legwork for CBS.

For its show, CBS News tentatively has been using the working handle of "Ten Days That Shook the World." It's now learned that the title, taken from the Harvard - bred John Reed's classic book of the October revolt, has not yet been cleared and may not be used.

NBC officially has made no move toward a commemorative mission to Moscow, but one of its producers, Frank DeFelitta, has privately expressed a yen to dig into the subject.

IN SHORT . . .

NBC-TV is talking with Lew Grade, British commercial-television magnate, about the possibility of producing quality drama in England for the mutual benefit of ATV in London and NBC in America. . . .

That Eric Sevareid personal report on Viet Nam last month will lead to more television half-hour analyses, interpretations and views by CBS News correspondents "on the appropriate occasion and by the appropriate correspondent."

Draft Call Of 20 Set Next Month

Columbiana County's draft call for August is 20, Ohio Selective Service headquarters at Columbus announced Monday.

The Jefferson County quota is 50, the state board said.

The total state call is 3,395, up from 2,785 for July. The state call would lead to the induction of 2,207 men, compared with 1,671 entering the service this month, officials said.

The longest bridge game on record was played by four British students in 1964, who played continuously for 114 hours.

Homes' Hazards Cited In Warning Against Mishaps

Hazards that go unnoticed in the average home were responsible for many of the accidents that injured 22 million Americans in 1965, the City Health Department said today in a warning relayed from Dr. E. W. Arnold, director of the State Health Department.

Unguarded stairways, sharp protruding corners, high inaccessible shelves and leaky flues are some of the common hazards, the Health Department said. The condition of floor coverings and stairways, door and window latches, porch railings and sidewalks also should be checked regularly, it added.

But the kitchen still is the most hazardous room in any home because of its myriad of cutting implements, gadgets and super-heated fluids, the department warned.

Falls accounted for 746 deaths in Ohio in 1965, while fire claimed 244 lives, it added. The warning advised each Ohio family to check its home regularly against potential hazards.

The Caspian Sea, though landlocked, was called a sea by the Romans because they found it to be salty.

Tax Report Shows $50 Hike For County During 1950-65

The amount of property tax paid per capita in Columbiana County has increased $50 since 1950, but is less than the state average increase, the Ohio Public Expenditure Council reported.

In 1965, the per capita tax was $76.19, an increase of 29 per cent over the $59.22 paid in 1960 and 193 per cent over the $26 paid in 1950, the report showed.

The state's average per capita property tax in 1965 was $111.62, an increase of 30 per cent over the $85.76 of 1960 and an increase of 188 per cent over the $38.75 over 1950.

The average tax for the six counties in Columbiana County's population range — 105,000 to 150,000 — was $93.32 in 1965, up 35 per cent from the $69.26 of 1960 and a boost of 203 per cent over the $30.79 of 1950.

Jefferson County's tax burden went up $71.77 in the 15-year period. The 1965 tax was $103.12, an increase of 31 per cent over the $78.80 for 1960 and a 299 per cent boost over the $31.35 of 1950.

Carroll County's 1965 tax was $74.96, a boost of 29 per cent over the $58.01 for 1960 and a 277 per cent increase over the $19.89 for 1950.

In Mahoning County, taxes rose $73.85 per capita in the 1950-65 period. In 1965 the tax was $112.31, up 30 per cent from the $86.58 for 1960 and up 192 per cent from the $38.46 for 1950.

Morgan County with $156.81 and Cuyahoga County with $155.74 were the highest 1965 per capita tax levels in Ohio, while Adams County with $43.63 and Meigs County with $48.75 were the lowest.

Clermont County posted a 964 per cent increase in the taxes for 1950-65 for the largest increase. Other high percentage increases were Monroe 857 per cent, Morgan 786 per cent, Geauga 776 per cent and Green 621 per cent. The state percentage increase averaged 281 per cent.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN HORN

Playing Vice President

This summer a viewer can play a game of playing a network programming vice president, in a modified way.

He can sit back and look at five one-hour and seven half-hour pilots that never made it and decide for himself why they didn't and why they should have.

The dropped pilots are being launched by ABC in two series.

"PREVIEW TONIGHT," from 8 to 9 on Sundays beginning Aug. 14, will present "Pursue and Destroy" (lone wolf sub on the prowl), "Somewhere in Italy: Company B" (lost patrol in World War II), "The Cliff Dwellers" (A college group 10 years after), "Roaring Camp" (Mining town Western), and "Great Bible Adventures" (the story of Joseph from slave to leader).

"Summer Fun" is half-hour comedy, situation and otherwise, booked for Fridays at 8 p.m. starting Friday.

Viewer enjoyment in making like a program chief is curtailed, of course, by the fact that the available summertime pilots are losers. For the winners that became series, the curious will have to wait until fall.

WITH THE GOLDEN anniversary of the Russian revolution on the horizon (1917-1967), all of the networks are getting into the act of documenting that cataclysm of modern history.

Latest activity's is ABC's.

Producer Tom Wolf now is in Moscow talking over a contemplated documentary with the Russians to see what Soviet film is available and what original shooting will be permitted in the U.S.S.R.

While there he may bump into producer Arthur Barron, who's doing the same kind of preliminary legwork for CBS.

For its show, CBS News tentatively has been using the working handle of "Ten Days That Shook the World." It's now learned that the title, taken from the Harvard-bred John Reed's classic book of the October revolt, has not yet been cleared and may not be used.

NBC officially has made no move toward a commemorative mission to Moscow, but one of its producers, Frank DeFelitta, has privately expressed a yen to dig into the subject.

IN SHORT . . .

NBC-TV is talking with Lew Grade, British commercial-television magnate, about the possibility of producing quality drama in England for the mutual benefit of ATV in London and NBC in America. . . .

That Eric Sevareid personal report on Viet Nam last month will lead to more television half-hour analyses, interpretations and views by CBS News correspondents "on the appropriate occasion and by the appropriate correspondent."

Homes' Hazards Cited In Warning Against Mishaps

Hazards that go unnoticed in the average home were responsible for many of the accidents that injured 22 million Americans in 1965, the City Health Department said today in a warning relayed from Dr. E. W. Arnold, director of the State Health Department.

Unguarded stairways, sharp protruding corners, high inaccessible shelves and leaky flues are some of the common hazards, the Health Department said. The condition of floor coverings and stairways, door and window latches, porch railings and sidewalks also should be checked regularly, it added.

But the kitchen still is the most hazardous room in any home because of its myriad of cutting implements, gadgets and super-heated fluids, the department warned.

Falls accounted for 746 deaths in Ohio in 1965, while fire claimed 244 lives, it added. The warning advised each Ohio family to check its home regularly against potential hazards.

The Caspian Sea, though landlocked, was called a sea by the Romans because they found it to be salty.

Draft Call Of 20 Set Next Month

Columbiana County's draft call for August is 20, Ohio Selective Service headquarters at Columbus announced Monday.

The Jefferson County quota is 50, the state board said.

The total state call is 3,395, up from 2,785 for July. The state call would lead to the induction of 2,207 men, compared with 1,671 entering the service this month, officials said.

The longest bridge game on record was played by four British students in 1964, who played continuously for 114 hours.

Tax Report Shows $50 Hike For County During 1950-65

The amount of property tax paid per capita in Columbiana County has increased $50 since 1950, but is less than the state average increase, the Ohio Public Expenditure Council reported.

In 1965, the per capita tax was $76.19, an increase of 29 per cent over the $59.22 paid in 1960 and 193 per cent over the $26 paid in 1950, the report showed.

The state's average per capita property tax in 1965 was $111.62, an increase of 30 per cent over the $85.76 of 1960 and an increase of 188 per cent over the $38.75 over 1950.

The average tax for the six counties in Columbiana County's population range — 105,000 to 150,000 — was $93.32 in 1965, up 35 per cent from the $69.26 of 1960 and a boost of 203 per cent over the $30.79 of 1950.

Jefferson County's tax burden went up $71.77 in the 15-year period. The 1965 tax was $103.12, an increase of 31 per cent over the $78.80 for 1960 and a 299 per cent boost over the $31.35 of 1950.

Carroll County's 1965 tax was $74.96, a boost of 29 per cent over the $58.01 for 1960 and a 277 per cent increase over the $19.89 for 1950.

In Mahoning County, taxes rose $73.85 per capita in the 1950-65 period. In 1965 the tax was $112.31, up 30 per cent from the $86.58 for 1960 and up 192 per cent from the $38.46 for 1950.

Morgan County with $156.81 and Cuyahoga County with $155.74 were the highest 1965 per capita tax levels in Ohio, while Adams County with $43.63 and Meigs County with $48.75 were the lowest.

Clermont County posted a 964 per cent increase in the taxes for 1950-65 for the largest increase. Other high percentage increases were Monroe 857 per cent, Morgan 786 per cent, Geauga 776 per cent and Green 621 per cent. The state percentage increase averaged 281 per cent.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I went to the airport to meet friends arriving from Mexico City. While waiting, I noticed a young man in uniform, his sobbing wife seated next to him.

She was holding a tiny infant in her arms, and there was also an older woman — presumably the soldier's mother.

The woman turned to me and said, "Isn't it terrible that young families have to be broken up this way?" I replied, "Yes, it's very sad." Then, I asked, "How old is the baby?" She answered, "He was born 10 days ago.

I said, "Don't you think it is a little foolish to bring a newborn baby to an airport?" The woman got red in the face and shouted, "That baby is seeing his father off to war! Don't you understand?"

I said, "A 10-day old baby doesn't see anything. Don't you understand? Infants belong at home, not in public places with millions of germs."

My husband yanked my arm and pulled me to the other side of the room. He gave me a terrible bawling out for "speaking out of turn."

He made me feel like a fool. I'd like your views on this.—ADA.

Dear Ada: Are you the manager of the world — or just the airport? Your husband was wise to remove you from the scene of what might have developed into a hair-pulling fight.

It's true that a 10-day-old baby doesn't see anything, but if the parents wanted to bring him to the airport that's their business, not yours.

A Hairy Tale

Dear Ann: I'll bet you're sick of receiving letters about boys' hair. But please handle just one more for a fossilized dad of 41.

Our 15-year-old son has gone in for the long look—and I do mean long. My wife and I haven't said much because we don't want to make it a cause celebre. The boy's grandmother was here yesterday and said something to the boy about his "ridiculous mane."

Our son said styles come and go and this is the style right now and you can't really tell anything about a guy by looking at his hair. Right or wrong? —JUST ASKING.

Dear Just: Wrong. You can tell a great deal about a guy by looking at his hair. One thing you can tell is if he believes in soap and water.

Long hair may be the style, but some of the kids I've seen look like fugitives from the board of health. I wish crew cuts would come back. And the sooner the better.

Dropout Eater

Dear Ann: I'm a career girl on the shady side of 30. Frankly I'm plain looking and overweight. But I do have some sense in my head, and I could make the right man happy. I am not talking about marrige. I'm not one of those women who thinks I must be married or I'm dead.

I am dating a really nice man but the best thing we do together is eat. I'm an excellent cook and Georgie loves to eat at my place. It's fun to slave over a hot stove for someone who appreciates it. And Georgie does.

Problem: Georgie's grammar is terrible. He never will get a better job if he doesn't do something about it. I've enrolled in a night school course in psychology. I want Georgie to come with me and take English, but he refuses. I'm beginning to sound like a nag. Any advice? —DOT.

Dear Dot: Yes, Cut it out. He doesn't want to go to school with you. He just wants to eat with you.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Aboard Excursion Boat On The Potomac

By KELLY SMITH

WASHINGTON (AP) — The wounded servicemen cheered. Wind whipped across the top deck of the excursion boat. President Johnson, squinting against the setting sun, stopped and said: "Get well, son."

There were tears in the young soldier's eyes, and he turned away. More surged forward, some on crutches, some in uniform, some in bathrobes, to shake the President's hand.

With each Marine, sailor or soldier he stopped to talk to, there was a kind of shyness between the commander in chief and the wounded man. There was the usual "How are you?" and "I am fine." But a poignant hesitation to go further.

"How do you say," asked Marine Pfc. Wesley Johnson, 19, of Louisville, Ky., "that you want to go back to Viet Nam?" He shook hands with the President from a wheel chair.

The President and Mrs. Johnson made an impromptu 40-minute visit Monday night aboard the boat carrying 600 wounded Viet Nam war veterans from six hospitals in the Washington area, and their friends.

The President's visit was unannounced. The Johnsons boarded from a launch as the excursion boat neared the end of a three-hour cruise down the Potomac River to the Mount Vernon area under sponsorship of Secretary of Defense and Mrs. Robert S. McNamara.

There were six bands, four beauty queens, 15 sports personalities, a clan of professional entertainers, pretty high school hostesses, 1,800 fried apple pies, beer and sunshine.

As Johnson stopped to talk with two pajama-clad soldiers, they pushed their left hands behind their backs. After he left, each brought out a half-emptied bottle of beer and a soggy bathrobe sleeve.

For many, it was the first trip outside a hospital in months. For most, it was the first time to see the President.

"I don't envy the President," said Pfc. Rich Cadiz, 22, of Oceanside, N.Y., "but I wish I could have stayed longer to fight. I wish I could tell him that." Cadiz lost a leg while fighting with the 1st Cavalry in March.

The President and the First Lady stayed aboard the boat, a regular tourist attraction on the Potomac, for 10 minutes after it docked. They were among the last to leave.

They left some tears, a lot of scribbled "LBJ" autographs, and Pfc. Bennie Dawson, 21, of Harriman, Tenn. "They asked me how I was and I said I was pretty sick," Dawson said. He was injured two weeks ago in a mine explosion in Viet Nam.

"But now I feel pretty nice," he added. He went down the gangplank beaming.

Clark said contributions of furniture will be collected Thursday or Friday if donors advise firemen on the regular fire telephone.

Work Nearly Finished For Meter Installation

Work is nearing completion on installation of 503 new parking meters delivered to the city in mid-June, Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said today.

The job is finished except for a stretch of Dresden Ave., a section of E. 5th St. near Broadway and the Ceramic Parking Lot, the director said.

The Koontz Equipment Corp. of Pittsburgh delivered the manual-type meters June 14 under a $25,000 contract. Meanwhile, the city has purchased 75 additional automatic meters for use on the Ceramic Annex lot.

Curb-Cutting Controls Set

Council gave unanimous approval Monday night to legislation requiring persons to obtain permits from Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey before cutting curbs for installation of new driveways.

A $10 fee must accompany the application, the legislation provides. A violation of the ordinance will lead to a fine of up to $50 and costs, it adds.

The premable of the legislation asserts that there formerly was no control "over indiscriminate curb cutting which seriously affected parking, traffic and street maintenance."

In considering an application, the director must determine that the action "is necessary or beneficial to the full use and enjoyment of said property," the legislation provides. He must approve the location and dimensions of the curb cut.

The permit cannot be issued if the director decides it will "create or unduly add to traffic problems or hazards," the legislation says. When the cut curb no longer is required, it must be restored to its original condition by the applicant, the ordinance provides.

The legislation contains an emergency clause, which means it will go into effect as soon as it is signed by Mayor George E. Willshaw.

Firemen Launch Ticket Sale For Calcutta Festival

Advance tickets to the Calcutta Firemen's Festival Aug. 9-13 were distributed to firemen at a meeting Monday night at the station.

Clarence Dick, ticket chairman, said tickets may be obtained at reduced prices prior to the state of the event.

Richard Wright was appointed grounds chairman. A water dip which dumps a person into a tank when a ball hits a target has been added as a concession at the festival.

The Pittsburgh Sky Divers will present a free program, jumping from planes Aug. 12-13 and trailing smoke to a 5-foot target circle at the grounds.

Discussion was held on estimates submitted for a concrete apron at the fire station, with further details on costs and specifications to be obtained.

Norman Neal, president, was in charge. Fire Chief Laverne Seckman took the roll of 11 present.

'Sober Enough' Policeman Says Of City Escapee

"He was sober enough to get away," Patrolman Samuel E. Hayes testified ruefully today in Municipal Court when asked by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff to comment on the relative state of intoxication of a defendant who fled on foot Friday afternoon after he was found in a car blocking traffic on Price St.

But Judge Chertoff sustained two charges against Charles (Tom) Landy of Valley Ave. sentencing him to 10 days in County Jail on a charge of resisting an officer and fining him $25 and costs on an intoxication charge.

Landy was one of two men found asleep in a parked auto when police answered a complaint the vehicle was blocking Price St., the officer testified. He roused Landy and then awakened his companion, Kenneth Lee Adkins of 2216 Crawford Ave.

While the officer's back was turned, Landy fled on foot down a nearby hillside, the patrolman testified.

Landy was taken into custody Monday on two warrants. Adkins was fined $25 and costs yesterday on an intoxication charge.

The shortest will admitted to probate consisted of only three words: "All for Mother."

Trio To Face Hearings For Aid In Escape

Three East Liverpool men were to be charged today with helping another East Liverpool resident escape from the Wellsville jail.

Police Chief John Hephner said the trio, William Robert Hall of 801 Green Ln., Ralph W. Smith of 327 Broadway and William Raymond Moore of 451 Ray St., all will be given hearings today before Mayor William Daugherty on charges of aiding and abetting a prisoner to escape.

The trio is charged with aiding David Coleman, 19, of 319½ Broadway escape from the detention room at Wellsville City Hall Friday night.

Coleman turned himself in Monday morning. Hephner said Hall was taken into custody in East Liverpool Monday evening on a warrant issued by the police department, while the other two turned themselves in at the station.

Coleman was arrested Friday on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol. He was driving a car that hit the rear of another on Broadway, Wellsville.

Coleman was taken to the detention room and locked up. When the investigating officer returned, Coleman had been released, the padlock having been forced open.

After turning himself in yesterday, Coleman also was charged with jail-breaking. He appeared before Mayor Daugherty, but the case was continued until today.

All four will receive hearings today, Hephner said.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I went to the airport to meet friends arriving from Mexico City. While waiting, I noticed a young man in uniform, his sobbing wife seated next to him.

She was holding a tiny infant in her arms, and there was also an older woman — presumably the soldier's mother.

The woman turned to me and said, "Isn't it terrible that young families have to be broken up this way?" I replied, "Yes, it's very sad." Then, I asked, "How old is the baby?" She answered, "He was born 10 days ago.

I said, "Don't you think it is a little foolish to bring a newborn baby to an airport?" The woman got red in the face and shouted, "That baby is seeing his father off to war! Don't you understand?"

I said, "A 10-day old baby doesn't see anything. Don't you understand? Infants belong at home, not in public places with millions of germs."

My husband yanked my arm and pulled me to the other side of the room. He gave me a terrible bawling out for "speaking out of turn."

He made me feel like a fool. I'd like your views on this.—ADA.

Dear Ada: Are you the manager of the world — or just the airport? Your husband was wise to remove you from the scene of what might have developed into a hair-pulling fight.

It's true that a 10-day-old baby doesn't see anything, but if the parents wanted to bring him to the airport that's their business, not yours.

A Hairy Tale

Dear Ann: I'll bet you're sick of receiving letters about boys' hair. But please handle just one more for a fossilized dad of 41.

Our 15-year-old son has gone in for the long look—and I do mean long. My wife and I haven't said much because we don't want to make it a cause celebre. The boy's grandmother was here yesterday and said something to the boy about his "ridiculous mane."

Our son said styles come and go and this is the style right now and you can't really tell anything about a guy by looking at his hair. Right or wrong? —JUST ASKING.

Dear Just: Wrong. You can tell a great deal about a guy by looking at his hair. One thing you can tell is if he believes in soap and water.

Long hair may be the style, but some of the kids I've seen look like fugitives from the board of health. I wish crew cuts would come back. And the sooner the better.

Dropout Eater

Dear Ann: I'm a career girl on the shady side of 30. Frankly I'm plain looking and overweight. But I do have some sense in my head, and I could make the right man happy. I am not talking about marrige. I'm not one of those women who thinks I must be married or I'm dead.

I am dating a really nice man but the best thing we do together is eat. I'm an excellent cook and Georgie loves to eat at my place. It's fun to slave over a hot stove for someone who appreciates it. And Georgie does.

Problem: Georgie's grammar is terrible. He never will get a better job if he doesn't do something about it. I've enrolled in a night school course in psychology. I want Georgie to come with me and take English, but he refuses. I'm beginning to sound like a nag. Any advice? —DOT.

Dear Dot: Yes. Cut it out. He doesn't want to go to school with you. He just wants to eat with you.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Duffy And Murray Hit PUCO Crossing Order

Councilmen Frank Duffy and Floyd Murray, East End Democrats, Monday night attacked the Ohio Public Utilities Commission for granting a Pennsylvania Railroad Co. application for installation of automatic guard gates, warning lights and bells at the Mulberry St. crossing a system of watchmen that has been used for many years.

Reiterating arguments presented when a PUCO attorney-examiner heard both sides of the case in a hearing here early this year, Murray and Duffy contended that the watchman system would be much safer for about 150 East End children who cross the tracks daily en route to and from Garfield School.

The PUCO's ruling against the city's opposition to the plan was announced to Council several weeks ago by Solicitor Joseph W. Nooper. Last night's comments were touched off when the state agency's formal finding in the case was read into the record.

Cooper pointed out that part of the PUCO's order requires the Pennsy to help instruct pupils at Garfield School in the difference between the two systems of protection.

The PUCO conducted a hearing on the question when the city formally opposed the Pennsy's proposal for the automatic gates.

"I disagree with the PUCO," Murray said in commenting on the order. "The people in East End don't want those automatic gates. They came down here and said so when the PUCO held its hearing. The system will jeopardize the lives of 150 pupils who must cross the tracks every day. Those gates don't always work the way they're supposed to."

"I opposed this move and so did the people in East End. I think the people in East End are getting a raw deal. I think they should write to their state senator or the PUCO and enter protests."

"I agree with Murray," Duffy commented, and added that he feels the PUCO should have required the Pennsy to retain the watchman system at the busy crossing.

"I think every member of Council feels there should be a watchman there," Councilman Norman Bucher said. "But the PUCO has ruled and it is out of our hands. I feel we are powerless."

Then Council voted on the question of receiving and filing the PUCO's report. The motion was approved 5-2, with Duffy and Murray dissenting.

Duffy And Murray Hit PUCO Crossing Order

Councilmen Frank Duffy and Floyd Murray, East End Democrats, Monday night attacked the Ohio Public Utilities Commission for granting a Pennsylvania Railroad Co. application for installation of automatic guard gates, warning lights and bells at the Mulberry St. crossing a system of watchmen that has been used for many years.

Reiterating arguments presented when a PUCO attorney-examiner heard both sides of the case in a hearing here early this year, Murray and Duffy contended that the watchman system would be much safer for about 150 East End children who cross the tracks daily en route to and from Garfield School.

The PUCO's ruling against the city's opposition to the plan was announced to Council several weeks ago by Solicitor Joseph W. Nooper. Last night's comments were touched off when the state agency's formal finding in the case was read into the record.

Cooper pointed out that part of the PUCO's order requires the Pennsy to help instruct pupils at Garfield School in the difference between the two systems of protection.

The PUCO conducted a hearing on the question when the city formally opposed the Pennsy's proposal for the automatic gates.

"I disagree with the PUCO," Murray said in commenting on the order. "The people in East End don't want those automatic gates. They came down here and said so when the PUCO held its hearing. The system will jeopardize the lives of 150 pupils who must cross the tracks every day. Those gates don't always work the way they're supposed to."

"I opposed this move and so did the people in East End. I think the people in East End are getting a raw deal. I think they should write to their state senator or the PUCO and enter protests."

"I agree with Murray," Duffy commented, and added that he feels the PUCO should have required the Pennsy to retain the watchman system at the busy crossing.

"I think every member of Council feels there should be a watchman there," Councilman Norman Bucher said. "But the PUCO has ruled and it is out of our hands. I feel we are powerless."

Then Council voted on the question of receiving and filing the PUCO's report. The motion was approved 5-2, with Duffy and Murray dissenting.

Pirates Out Hit Giants 12-4, But Drop Third Game, 3-2

Jackson Defeats Dodgers & Koufax

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

"If you're going to relieve," says Lindy McDaniel of the San Francisco Giants, "the only spot is short relief."

McDaniel is a short relief pitcher. So is teammate Bill Henry. But Henry's short relieving and McDaniel's aren't the same. Henry makes an even more minute specialization out of it.

The veteran left-hander displayed his short short relieving Monday night as the Giants edged Pittsburgh 3-2 and moved to within two percentage points of the National League-leading Pirates.

Manager Herman Franks called on Henry in the eighth inning after Roberto Clemente doubled home the Pirates' second run against starter Gaylord Perry. Henry retired Manny Mota on a fly ball, then departed as Frank Linzy came on.

The appearance was Henry's 23rd this season, and his one-out performance was the 10th time he's pitched only one-third of an inning. In fact, in those 23 games, Henry has pitched only 16 1-3 innings. McDaniel and Linzy, on the other hand, have averaged about two innings per appearance.

Henry, however, has allowed only two runs all season so when it comes to short short relief, there aren't many who could top him.

After Henry left in the eighth, Linzy came on and retired Jose Pagan on a foul pop, leaving Clemente at second with the tying run.

In other National League games, Philadelphia blanked Los Angeles 4-0, New York swept Houston for the second straight day 4-1 and 6-3, Atlanta edged Cincinnati 9-8 and St. Louis nipped Chicago 7-6.

In the American League, Baltimore beat Chicago 5-3, Cleveland whipped California 6-1 and New York trimmed Minnesota 6-4.

Larry Jackson stopped the Dodgers on five hits for his fifth straight victory and second straight shutout. Philadelphia, meanwhile, erupted for three runs in the fifth inning, sending Sandy Koufax to his fifth defeat against 16 victories.

New York scored three runs in the eighth inning for the opening-game victory against Houston. Billy Murphy singled in the first run, and Roy McMillan knocked in the other two with a single.

Larry Elliot drove in four runs in the nightcap for the Mets, the last two with a double in the seventh inning when the Mets wiped out a 3-2 Astro lead. Al Luplow and Ed Kranepool singled in the first two runs of the rally.

Ed Mathews' run-scoring single in the Atlanta eighth snapped an 8-8 deadlock. Felipe Alou and Mack Jones each hit two-run homers for the Braves while Tommy Harper's two-run double in the eighth pulled Cincinnati into the tie.

Byron Browne drove in five runs with two homers for Chicago, but St. Louis got three-run homers from Tim McCarver in the sixth inning and Mike Shannon in the seventh.

Walker Praises Squad In Defeat

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Even in defeat, Manager Harry Walker of the Pirates says he's "tickled to death."

Pittsburgh dropped a 3-2 squeaker to the San Francisco Giants Monday night, but Walker took it in the spirit of a man who feels he lost a battle but is winning the war.

"You've done a good job," Walker told his players in the quiet dressing room. "You've done a hell of a good job."

The Pirates swept a doubleheader from the Giants Sunday, and even with the setback Monday night, Pittsburgh remains on top of the National League, two percentage points ahead of the Giants.

The talkative Walker went on: "I'm tickled to take two out of three. I'd like to stop all the clubs coming in here two out of three. I'm tickled to death."

What put the Pirates on top? Walker replied:

"You can't say any one thing did it. It's a team effort. Really, I mean it. Everyone has done something.

"These players are making a darn good effort. I'd say they got more hustle than any team in the league."

The Pirates haven't been getting the mileage they'd like to out of their starting pitchers, but Walker shrugged this off.

"Don't forget," he said, "Los Angeles and San Francisco are going to have to beef up their starting pitching if they're going to make a run for it."

Walker, the optimist, took Monday night's defeat in stride.

The Pirates loaded the bases with two away in the bottom of the ninth inning, then Lindy McDaniel nailed pinch hitter Jesse Gonder on a liner to short to end the threat and the game.

"Another six or eight inches and we would have had 'em," said Walker with a shrug, referring to Gonder's liner.

Pittsburgh—Pirates — Walker spt bjt (top to cooe(:

The Giants scored all three runs in the fourth inning off Bob Veale on three singles and two wild pitches.

Jim Davenport opened with a single and Willie Mays followed suit. Both advanced on a wild pitch, then Jim Hart grounded out, scoring Davenport with Mays moving to third.

A single by Cap Peterson scored Mays and Peterson moved around on a ground out, another wild pitch and Jesus Alou's single.

The first Pirate run crossed in the seventh with Jim Pagliaroni doubling home Donn Clendenon from first base. Jose Pagan had opened the inning with a single and was forced out by Clendenon.

A single by Matty Alou and a double by Roberto Clemente scored the Pirates' other run in the eighth.

Giants Tried To Get Back Jose Pagan

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Willie Mays, San Francisco Giant slugger, says the Giants tried to make a deal with the Pittsburgh Pirates to get back infielder Jose Pagan.

Pagan came to Pittsburgh last year in a trade with the Giants. He started playing third base regularly for Pittsburgh last May 17, taking over from Bob Bailey, and currently is hitting in the low 280s.

"We tried to get him back," Mays was quoted today by Sports Editor Al Abrams of the Pittsburgh Post—Gazette.

Abrams said he learned the Giants offered pitcher Bob Shaw for Pagan, but the Pirates said no dice. Later, Shaw was traded to the New York Mets and at one point won four games in a row.

Indians Continue HR Spree, Hit Four To Rip Angels, 6-1

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

In the middle of July, what's more natural than a two-week vacation?

Now that the Cleveland Indians' power structure has returned from its midsummer holiday, Manager Birdie Tebbetts can get back to the business of the American League pennant race.

The Indians continued their sudden assault, tagging the California pitching staff Monday for four home runs in a 6-1 victory. That gave Tebbetts' club 13 homers in two days. Cleveland erupted for nine homers in a doubleheader sweep over Detroit Sunday.

Prior to Sunday, Tebbetts had struggled through two weeks in which his club had managed just four homers and had lost 11 of 12 games.

Then came Sunday's doubleheader sweep in which the Indians smashed nine homers. Monday it was much the same story with all the Cleveland runs resulting from the rested and refreshed long ball.

Rocky Colavito and Larry brown tagged fourth-inning homers, each good for two runs. Colavito's No. 19 followed Chuck Hinton's walk and Brown's second of the season delivered Chico Salmon, who had walked.

In the seventh inning, Leon Wagner walloped his 12th of the season and an inning later, Max Alvis wrapped up the scoring with his ninth.

Homers also played a major role in the only other American League games played. Boog Powell and Frank Robinson smashed consecutive shots that helped Baltimore whip Chicago 5-3 and Hector Lopez' three-run homer lifted the New York Yankees to a 6-4 victory over Minnesota.

In the National League, the New York Mets swept a doubleheader from Houston 4-1 and 6-3, San Francisco edged Pittsburgh 3-2, Philadelphia shut out Los Angeles 4-0, St. Louis downed Chicago 7-6 and Atlanta nipped Cincinnati 9-8.

Gary Bell hurled a four-hitter for the Indians with the only Angel run coming on Jose Cardenal's 10th homer of the season in the sixth inning.

Bell struck out seven and won his 10th game in 15 decisions.

The Indians, who had slipped to fourth place during their two-week slump, climbed back into third place during the two-day power show but remained 10 games back of the front-running Orioles, who showed Chicago some muscle too.

Powell and Robinson rocked Juan Pizarro with a pair of long blasts in a four-run second inning as Baltimore whipped the White Sox. Powell's 21st was a two-run shot which landed on the right center-field roof and then Robinson followed with his 23rd to the bullpen in center field. Both homers were 400-foot blasts.

Powell added two singles and walked twice. Robinson also had a pair of singles.

The Twins had a 4-0 lead against the Yankees for six innings but New York knocked out Mudcat Grant with a three-run rally in the seventh. The rally featured a pinch double by Mickey Mantle and a pinch single by Roger Maris, each knocking in a run.

In the eighth, Roy White singled and Clete Boyer walked in front of Lopez' fourth homer of the season.

Ted Uhlaender and Harmon Killebrew had homered earlier for the Twins who jumped into their lead against New York starter Al Downing.

The victory was the eighth in nine games this season for the Yankees against the Twins.

ATLANTA BRAVES' Woody Woodward jumps high to avoid being hit by Cincinnati's Gordy Coleman and throws on to first in an attempted double play in Monday night's game at Atlanta. The Braves edged the Reds, 9-8. (UPI Telephoto)

Has Been Elusive For Arnie

Palmer Will Try Again In Chase Of PGA Crown

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — If Arnold Palmer is going to complete his personal golf grand slam, he might never have a better opportunity than this week in the golden anniversary PGA Championship at the massive Firestone Country Club.

Palmer has been chasing the elusive PGA crown to complete the slam since 1960. Ironically enough, he blew one of his finest chances at the Firestone Club in 1960.

In the thick of the running, Pamer shot himself out of the tournament in the third round when he took a horrendous 8 on the 625-yard No. 16 and finished in a tie for seventh.

Since 1960, Arnie has made the Firestone course pay handsomely by winning the American Golf Classic in 1962 and never finishing lower than fourth. Twice he finished second and once third, enabling him to carve the best record of touring pros over the 7,180-yard layout with a par 35-35—70 during the Classic's five-year history.

Palmer now has a chance to join the other members of the Big Three should he come in first this week in the 72-hole tournament which begins Thursday and ends Sunday.

Gary Player completed his slam last year when he won the U.S. Open and Jack Nicklaus turned the trick this year by grabbing the British Open. Gene Sarazen and Ben Hogan are the only others to do it.

Palmer feels he has an excellent chance to do it, or as he put it: "As good a chance as anyone. Certainly the incentive is there. I feel good so there can't be any excuses."

If Palmer is successful in converting the slam, he'll also become the second man to win the four major titles in addition to the National Amateur which he captured in 1954.

Nicklaus started his fantastic championship run by winning the National Amateur in 1959 and repeating in 1961.

Nicklaus, who won the Masters in addition to the British Open this year, also ranks among the favorites although the clouter from Columbus has had his troubles over the Firestone layout.

Last year, Nicklaus had one of the worst tournaments in his brilliant career when he tied for 52nd with a 23-over-par 303.

Pirates Out Hit Giants 12-4, But Drop Third Game, 3-2

Jackson Defeats Dodgers & Koufax

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

"If you're going to relieve," says Lindy McDaniel of the San Francisco Giants, "the only spot is short relief."

McDaniel is a short relief pitcher. So is teammate Bill Henry. But Henry's short relieving and McDaniel's aren't the same. Henry makes an even more minute specialization out of it.

The veteran left-hander displayed his short short relieving Monday night as the Giants edged Pittsburgh 3-2 and moved to within two percentage points of the National League-leading Pirates.

Manager Herman Franks called on Henry in the eighth inning after Roberto Clemente doubled home the Pirates' second run against starter Gaylord Perry. Henry retired Manny Mota on a fly ball, then departed as Frank Linzy came on.

The appearance was Henry's 23rd this season, and his one-out performance was the 10th time he's pitched only one-third of an inning. In fact, in those 23 games, Henry has pitched only 16 1-3 innings. McDaniel and Linzy, on the other hand, have averaged about two innings per appearance.

Henry, however, has allowed only two runs all season so when it comes to short short relief, there aren't many who could top him.

After Henry left in the eighth, Linzy came on and retired Jose Pagan on a foul pop, leaving Clemente at second with the tying run.

In other National League games, Philadelphia blanked Los Angeles 4-0, New York swept Houston for the second straight day 4-1 and 6-3, Atlanta edged Cincinnati 9-8 and St. Louis nipped Chicago 7-6.

In the American League, Baltimore beat Chicago 5-3, Cleveland whipped California 6-1 and New York trimmed Minnesota 6-4.

Larry Jackson stopped the Dodgers on five hits for his fifth straight victory and second straight shutout. Philadelphia, meanwhile, erupted for three runs in the fifth inning, sending Sandy Koufax to his fifth defeat against 16 victories.

New York scored three runs in the eighth inning for the opening-game victory against Houston. Billy Murphy singled in the first run, and Roy McMillan knocked in the other two with a single.

Larry Elliot drove in four runs in the nightcap for the Mets, the last two with a double in the seventh inning when the Mets wiped out a 3-2 Astro lead. Al Luplow and Ed Kranepool singled in the first two runs of the rally.

Ed Mathews' run-scoring single in the Atlanta eighth snapped an 8-8 deadlock. Felipe Alou and Mack Jones each hit two-run homers for the Braves while Tommy Harper's two-run double in the eighth pulled Cincinnati into the tie.

Byron Browne drove in five runs with two homers for Chicago, but St. Louis got three-run homers from Tim McCarver in the sixth inning and Mike Shannon in the seventh.

Walker Praises Squad In Defeat

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Even in defeat, Manager Harry Walker of the Pirates says he's "tickled to death."

Pittsburgh dropped a 3-2 squeaker to the San Francisco Giants Monday night, but Walker took it in the spirit of a man who feels he lost a battle but is winning the war.

"You've done a good job," Walker told his players in the quiet dressing room. "You've done a hell of a good job."

The Pirates swept a doubleheader from the Giants Sunday, and even with the setback Monday night, Pittsburgh remains on top of the National League, two percentage points ahead of the Giants.

The talkative Walker went on:

"I'm tickled to take two out of three. I'd like to stop all the clubs coming in here two out of three. I'm tickled to death."

What put the Pirates on top? Walker replied:

"You can't say any one thing did it. It's a team effort. Really, I mean it. Everyone has done something.

"These players are making a darn good effort. I'd say they got more hustle than any team in the league."

The Pirates haven't been getting the mileage they'd like to out of their starting pitchers, but Walker shrugged this off.

"Don't forget," he said, "Los Angeles and San Francisco are going to have to beef up their starting pitching if they're going to make a run for it."

Walker, the optimist, took Monday night's defeat in stride.

The Pirates loaded the bases with two away in the bottom of the ninth inning, then Lindy McDaniel nailed pinch hitter Jesse Gonder on a liner to short to end the threat and the game.

"Another six or eight inches and we would have had 'em," said Walker with a shrug, referring to Gonder's liner.

Pittsburgh—Pirates — Walker spt bjt (top to cooe(:

The Giants scored all three runs in the fourth inning off Bob Veale on three singles and two wild pitches.

Jim Davenport opened with a single and Willie Mays followed suit. Both advanced on a wild pitch, then Jim Hart grounded out, scoring Davenport with Mays moving to third.

Giants Tried To Get Back Jose Pagan

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Willie Mays, San Francisco Giant slugger, says the Giants tried to make a deal with the Pittsburgh Pirates to get back infielder Jose Pagan.

Pagan came to Pittsburgh last year in a trade with the Giants. He started playing third base regularly for Pittsburgh last May 17, taking over from Bob Bailey, and currently is hitting in the low 280s.

"We tried to get him back," Mays was quoted today by Sports Editor Al Abrams of the Pittsburgh Post—Gazette.

Abrams said he learned the Giants offered pitcher Bob Shaw for Pagan, but the Pirates said no dice. Later, Shaw was traded to the New York Mets and at one point won four games in a row.

Indians Continue HR Spree, Hit Four To Rip Angels, 6-1

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

In the middle of July, what's more natural than a two-week vacation?

Now that the Cleveland Indians' power structure has returned from its midsummer holiday, Manager Birdie Tebbetts can get back to the business of the American League pennant race.

The Indians continued their sudden assault, tagging the California pitching staff Monday for four home runs in a 6-1 victory. That gave Tebbetts' club 13 homers in two days. Cleveland erupted for nine homers in a doubleheader sweep over Detroit Sunday.

Prior to Sunday, Tebbetts had struggled through two weeks in which his club had managed just four homers and had lost 11 of 12 games.

Then came Sunday's doubleheader sweep in which the Indians smashed nine homers. Monday it was much the same story with all the Cleveland runs resulting from the rested and refreshed long ball.

Rocky Colavito and Larry brown tagged fourth-inning homers, each good for two runs. Colavito's No. 19 followed Chuck Hinton's walk and Brown's second of the season delivered Chico Salmon, who had walked.

In the seventh inning, Leon Wagner walloped his 12th of the season and an inning later, Max Alvis wrapped up the scoring with his ninth.

Homers also played a major role in the only other American League games played. Boog Powell and Frank Robinson smashed consecutive shots that helped Baltimore whip Chicago 5-3 and Hector Lopez' three-run homer lifted the New York Yankees to a 6-4 victory over Minnesota.

In the National League, the New York Mets swept a doubleheader from Houston 4-1 and 6-3, San Francisco edged Pittsburgh 3-2, Philadelphia shut out Los Angeles 4-0, St. Louis downed Chicago 7-6 and Atlanta nipped Cincinnati 9-8.

Gary Bell hurled a four-hitter for the Indians with the only Angel run coming on Jose Cardenal's 10th homer of the season in the sixth inning.

Bell struck out seven and won his 10th game in 15 decisions.

The Indians, who had slipped to fourth place during their two-week slump, climbed back into third place during the two-day power show but remained 10 games back of the front-running Orioles, who showed Chicago some muscle too.

Powell and Robinson rocked Juan Pizarro with a pair of long blasts in a four-run second inning as Baltimore whipped the White Sox. Powell's 21st was a two-run shot which landed on the right center-field roof and then Robinson followed with his 23rd to the bullpen in center field. Both homers were 400-foot blasts.

Powell added two singles and walked twice. Robinson also had a pair of singles.

The Twins had a 4-0 lead against the Yankees for six innings but New York knocked out Mudcat Grant with a three-run rally in the seventh. The rally featured a pinch double by Mickey Mantle and a pinch single by Roger Maris, each knocking in a run.

In the eighth, Roy White singled and Clete Boyer walked in front of Lopez' fourth homer of the season.

Ted Uhlaender and Harmon Killebrew had homered earlier for the Twins who jumped into their lead against New York starter Al Downing.

The victory was the eighth in nine games this season for the Yankees against the Twins.

ATLANTA BRAVES' Woody Woodward jumps high to avoid being hit by Cincinnati's Gordy Coleman and throws on to first in an attempted double play in Monday night's game at Atlanta. The Braves edged the Reds, 9-8. (UPI Telephoto)

Nicklaus started his fantastic championship run by winning the National Amateur in 1959 and repeating in 1961.

Nicklaus, who won the Masters in addition to the British Open this year, also ranks among the favorites although the clouter from Columbus has had his troubles over the Firestone layout.

Last year, Nicklaus had one of the worst tournaments in his brilliant career when he tied for 52nd with a 23-over-par 303.

Woodbine, Bright's Win In Pony League Contests

Woodbine staved off a late rally by Burbick's to post a 7-6 victory and George Bright's blanked Sevy's 4-0 in the Pony League.

Woodbine's five - run second inning proved the turning point in defeating Burbick's. Woodbine was outhit 9-5 but a two-run homer by Mike Smith was a big blast for the Laundrymen. Murray had three hits for Burbick's including a solo home run.

Shuck was the winning pitcher and fanned eight batters while Seevers was checked with the loss.

Kemple blanked Sevy's on four hits while striking out 12 batters. His control was perfect as no Sevy runner reached base on a walk. Knox doubled to drive in the first two runs for Bright's while McVay had two hits. Cornell, the losing pitcher, fanned 10 and March led the hitting with two safeties.

Younger Players Better Near Greens, Snead Says

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Old Sam Snead is unwilling to concede any muscle to golf's new young breed but admits the kids are better around the greens.

"This stuff about today's players out-driving the golfers of my day is hogwash," the drawling West Virginian said today during a break in a tune-up for his 25th PGA championship.

"They chip and putt better. They've learned how to score."

Snead and Denny Shute will tee off in the silver anniversary tournament for each when play begins Thursday for 171 professionals over the long Firestone Country Club course.

Shute won in 1936, Snead three times in 1942, 1949 and 1951. Only Gene Sarazen, with 29 appearances, has played in more PGA title events.

"I could win another one if I could get the 'ifs' out of my putting," Sam said. "That's where these young guys kill us, around the greens.

"Twenty and 30 years ago, golfers didn't practice much on their putting. After a round, they would go back to the hotel and live it up. These kids go back and practice putting on the wall to wall carpeting in their hotel rooms. It's their life, a serious business because there is so much money at stake."

Snead said he believed he and Jimmy Thomson could hit the ball as far as Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer but they never mastered the short game to the same degree.

Sam is 54, with a slight paunch, still is bull strong and has a swing that flows like molasses. "I'm about 30 yards shorter on my drives," he confessed.

"One thing that bothers me about these present day guys—and I don't want to name them—is they are generally inclined to be too cautious.

"They'll say I'm five under par, and I've got to protect that lead. They should say I'm five under, and I want to be seven under.

"Palmer is the exception. He always goes for broke."

Central Wins On 3-Hitter By Musuraca

Jim Musuraca uncorked a three - hitter as Central Service rolled to a 7-1 victory over the Dentists Monday in the Colt League.

Musuraca helped his own cause with three hits and scored two runs. On the mound he fanned eight batters and allowed the Dentists only one run in the second inning. Bickar added two hits to the attack. Bernard Lovejoy was the losing pitcher but doubled for the only extra base hit of the game.

Lawrenceville Wins 9-7 In S. Side Loop

Lawrenceville collected 12 hits to hand Hookstown a 9-7 setback Monday in the South Side Hot Stove League Junior Division game.

Fred Bryan was the winning pitcher with J. Goodlin the loser.

Due Reed, Holcomb, Fox and Mikeals had two hits each for Lawrenceville. Young and Potts led Hookstown with two each.

Jockey Joe Culmone won the last two runnings of the Atlantic City Handicap. Last year he scored with Indoctrinate and in 1964 he won aboard Inbalance.

Ryun Going After More Track Marks

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jim Ryun, at 19 the owner of two world marks and a couple of American records, will be shooting for a fifth one in an international track and field meet this weekend.

Ryun, the Kansas freshman who added a world record 3:51.3 mile to his world 1:44.9 half-mile mark last weekend, will be going for the 800-meter record.

"I've got the half-mile mark and now I'd like to get the other," Ryun said on arrival here Monday from Berkeley, Calif., site of his world record mile.

There was considerable speculation the 6-foot-2 phenomenon would go for the world 1,500-meter mark in Los Angeles, but he quickly squelched it.

"I've run my last mile race this year," he said. The 1,500 meters is about 167 yards short of a mile. He set an American record of 3:36.1 en route to his mile mark last weekend and also holds the American record two miles, 8:25.2.

He erased Peter Snell's world record in the 880-yard run by two-tenths of a second a month ago at the U.S. Track Federation meet in Terre Haute Ind. No one bothered to clock him at 800 meters, but under the conversion method generally used, he would have broken Snell's record by a tenth of a second.

He will compete officially in the 800-meter run in Los Angeles but another tape will be placed at 880 yards — about five yards longer than 800 meters. The 800-meter record is 1:44.3.

Meet director Glenn Davis has asked officials to have a set of watches and a tape at 880 yards in case Ryun reduces his mark for that distance.

Manager Of Carter Challenges Griffith

SADDLE BROOK, N.J. (AP) — The manager of Rubin (Hurricane) Carter issued a challenge Monday to middleweight champion Emile Griffith for a title fight.

Carmen Tedeschi, Carter's manager, said, "I'll put up any guarantee they want to get a fight with Griffith."

Wasn't Always So

Jackson Laughs Now After Second Shutout

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Larry Jackson is laughing now. But two months ago he was ready to quit baseball.

The 34-year-old right-hander of the Philadelphia Phillies hurled his second straight five-hit shutout Monday night as he beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-0.

A new world, however, has opened for the 6-foot-2 veteran, who never before pitched for a pennant contender. He no longer even thinks of retiring let alone talk about it. Jackson thinks now only of a possible World Series share.

His win over the Dodgers and Sandy Koufax Monday was his eighth in his last 10 starts and ninth for the season against seven defeats. He walked only one and struck out four.

Jackson won 24 games for the Chicago Cubs two years ago, 14 last season, but he was fed up pitching for a loser and had serious throughts of quitting the game.

"I never told anybody but my wife," he confided. "I didn't want it to be a shock to her if I did it."

Asked why he would even think of quitting at the peak of his fine career, Jackson said that in 1965, when he lost 21 games for the Cubs he began thinking of himself, instead of the club.

"That's no good. You get to the point where after a bad game you think 'why worry, I'll get 'em next time. You lose self pride, then self respect as a pitcher."

He lost his first two games with the Cubs. Then, came that day in April when Manager Leo Durocher called him in and said he had been traded to the Phillies. This was the beginning of his new world.

He explained that coming to the Phillies gave him the one thing every pitcher needs, especially when you reach the baseball age of 34—"incentive."

Grand Slam Features In Midland's 5-3 Win

Midland Post 481 was a step ahead of Highland in the best two out of three game playoff for the Western Division title after scoring a 5-3 victory Monday at Highland.

A grand slam home run by Ray Hendershot in the fourth inning was the big blow for the Midland nine which added another run in the sixth.

Highland had scored first, coming up with a run in the third inning but Hendershot provided the four - run blast in the top of the fourth.

Terry Dye started for Midland but was relieved by Clarence Andrews in the fourth inning. Andrews went on to pitch brilliant relief ball not allowing a hit over the last four frames and pitching out of a tight jam in the fourth. Andrews struck out five batters during his relief stint. Musgraves was the losing pitcher.

Midland gained the Western finals blanking Beaver Falls Saturday on a brilliant one-hitter by Andrews.

The same two teams will meet Wednesday at Midland. Game time is 6 p. m.

Woodbine, Bright's Win In Pony League Contests

Woodbine staved off a late rally by Burbick's to post a 7-6 victory and George Bright's blanked Sevy's 4-0 in the Pony League.

Woodbine's five - run second inning proved the turning point in defeating Burbick's. Woodbine was outhit 9-5 but a two-run homer by Mike Smith was a big blast for the Laundrymen. Murray had three hits for Burbick's including a solo home run.

Shuck was the winning pitcher and fanned eight batters while Seevers was checked with the loss.

Kemple blanked Sevy's on four hits while striking out 12 batters. His control was perfect as no Sevy runner reached base on a walk. Knox doubled to drive in the first two runs for Bright's while McVay had two hits. Cornell, the losing pitcher, fanned 10 and March led the hitting with two safeties.

Younger Players Better Near Greens, Snead Says

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Old Sam Snead is unwilling to concede any muscle to golf's new young breed but admits the kids are better around the greens.

"This stuff about today's players out-driving the golfers of my day is hogwash," the drawling West Virginian said today during a break in a tune-up for his 25th PGA championship.

"They chip and putt better. They've learned how to score."

Snead and Denny Shute will tee off in the silver anniversary tournament for each when play begins Thursday for 171 professionals over the long Firestone Country Club course.

Shute won in 1936, Snead three times in 1942, 1949 and 1951. Only Gene Sarazen, with 29 appearances, has played in more PGA title events.

"I could win another one if I could get the 'ifs' out of my putting," Sam said. "That's where these young guys kill us, around the greens.

"Twenty and 30 years ago, golfers didn't practice much on their putting. After a round, they would go back to the hotel and live it up. These kids go back and practice putting on the wall to wall carpeting in their hotel rooms. It's their life, a serious business because there is so much money at stake."

Snead said he believed he and Jimmy Thomson could hit the ball as far as Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer but they never mastered the short game to the same degree.

Sam is 54, with a slight paunch, still is bull strong and has a swing that flows like molasses. "I'm about 30 yards shorter on my drives," he confessed.

"One thing that bothers me about these present day guys—and I don't want to name them—is they are generally inclined to be too cautious.

"They'll say I'm five under par, and I've got to protect that lead. They should say I'm five under, and I want to be seven under.

"Palmer is the exception. He always goes for broke."

Central Wins On 3-Hitter By Musuraca

Jim Musuraca uncorked a three - hitter as Central Service rolled to a 7-1 victory over the Dentists Monday in the Colt League.

Musuraca helped his own cause with three hits and scored two runs. On the mound he fanned eight batters and allowed the Dentists only one run in the second inning. Bickar added two hits to the attack. Bernard Lovejoy was the losing pitcher but doubled for the only extra base hit of the game.

Ryun Going After More Track Marks

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jim Ryun, at 19 the owner of two world marks and a couple of American records, will be shooting for a fifth one in an international track and field meet this weekend.

Ryun, the Kansas freshman who added a world record 3:51.3 mile to his world 1:44.9 half-mile mark last weekend, will be going for the 800-meter record.

"I've got the half-mile mark and now I'd like to get the other," Ryun said on arrival here Monday from Berkeley, Calif., site of his world record mile.

There was considerable speculation the 6-foot-2 phenomenon would go for the world 1,500-meter mark in Los Angeles, but he quickly squelched it.

"I've run my last mile race this year," he said. The 1,500 meters is about 167 yards short of a mile. He set an American record of 3:36.1 en route to his mile mark last weekend and also holds the American record two miles, 8:25.2.

He erased Peter Snell's world record in the 880-yard run by two-tenths of a second a month ago at the U.S. Track Federation meet in Terre Haute Ind. No one bothered to clock him at 800 meters, but under the conversion method generally used, he would have broken Snell's record by a tenth of a second.

He will compete officially in the 800-meter run in Los Angeles but another tape will be placed at 880 yards — about five yards longer than 800 meters. The 800-meter record is 1:44.3.

Meet director Glenn Davis has asked officials to have a set of watches and a tape at 880 yards in case Ryun reduces his mark for that distance.

Manager Of Carter Challenges Griffith

SADDLE BROOK, N.J. (AP) — The manager of Rubin (Hurricane) Carter issued a challenge Monday to middleweight champion Emile Griffith for a title fight.

Carmen Tedeschi, Carter's manager, said, "I'll put up any guarantee they want to get a fight with Griffith."

Wasn't Always So

Jackson Laughs Now After Second Shutout

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Larry Jackson is laughing now. But two months ago he was ready to quit baseball.

The 34-year-old right-hander of the Philadelphia Phillies hurled his second straight five-hit shutout Monday night as he beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-0.

A new world, however, has opened for the 6-foot-2 veteran, who never before pitched for a pennant contender. He no longer even thinks of retiring let alone talk about it. Jackson thinks now only of a possible World Series share.

His win over the Dodgers and Sandy Koufax Monday was his eighth in his last 10 starts and ninth for the season against seven defeats. He walked only one and struck out four.

Jackson won 24 games for the Chicago Cubs two years ago, 14 last season, but he was fed up pitching for a loser and had serious throughts of quitting the game.

"I never told anybody but my wife," he confided. "I didn't want it to be a shock to her if I did it."

Asked why he would even think of quitting at the peak of his fine career, Jackson said that in 1965, when he lost 21 games for the Cubs he began thinking of himself, instead of the club.

"That's no good. You get to the point where after a bad game you think 'why worry, I'll get 'em next time. You lose self pride, then self respect as a pitcher."

He lost his first two games with the Cubs. Then, came that day in April when Manager Leo Durocher called him in and said he had been traded to the Phillies. This was the beginning of his new world.

He explained that coming to the Phillies gave him the one thing every pitcher needs, especially when you reach the baseball age of 34—"incentive."

Grand Slam Features In Midland's 5-3 Win

Midland Post 481 was a step ahead of Highland in the best two out of three game playoff for the Western Division title after scoring a 5-3 victory Monday at Highland.

Highland had scored first, coming up with a run in the third inning but Hendershot provided the four - run blast in the top of the fourth.

Terry Dye started for Midland but was relieved by Clarence Andrews in the fourth inning. Andrews went on to pitch brilliant relief ball not allowing a hit over the last four frames and pitching out of a tight jam in the fourth. Andrews struck out five batters during his relief stint. Musgraves was the losing pitcher.

Midland gained the Western finals blanking Beaver Falls Saturday on a brilliant one-hitter by Andrews.

The same two teams will meet Wednesday at Midland. Game time is 6 p. m.

Klein Faces Questions On Dodd Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Ethics Committee questions Chicago publicist Julius Klein today about his dealings with Sen. Thomas J. Dodd.

Klein, 64, a registered agent for West German business interests, is expected to be the final witness in the initial phase of the committee's investigation into misconduct charges against Dodd.

Dodd planned to keep his old friend at more than arm's length. As chairman of the Senate Juvenile Delinquency Subcommittee, the Connecticut Democrat scheduled a simultaneous hearing on narcotics legislation and did not plan to attend the Ethics Committee session.

The bipartisan Ethics Committee is expected to zero in on a trip Dodd made to Germany in April 1964.

Columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson, who sparked the inquiry, have charged that Dodd was "an errand boy" for Klein and made the trip to help him retain his West German clients.

But in testimony before the committee last month, Dodd said he made the trip for the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee to investigate Soviet terror tactics.

Councilmen Pass Bill For Release Of Old Easement

Council gave approval Monday night to an ordinance authorizing the release of an easement obtained four years ago—but never used—for construction of a water line across property in Liverpool Township.

The easement was given the city in June 1962 by William L. Smith, Virginia P. Smith, Richard V. Beatty, Jane M. Beatty, Miriam L. DeMunn and Lawrence DeMunn. But the water line actually was constructed across other land to the south of the spot affected by the easement, the ordinance explains.

The ordinance authorizes Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey and the Board of Public Uitlities to execute a deed and other documents to release the easement.

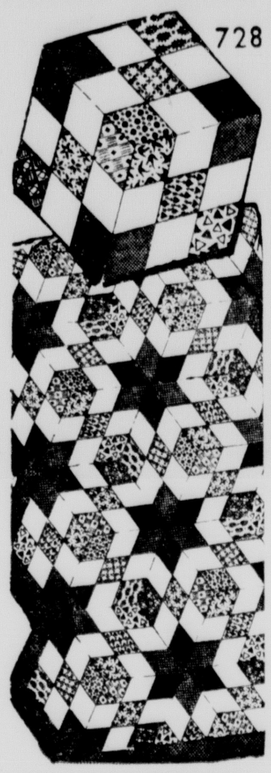

Council also was to have considered a resolution authorizing payment of a $20 claim against the city, but it was shelved.

Reams Charges Rhodes Inaction In Pollution War

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has been accused of trying to take credit for water pollution treatment facilities being paid for by industries and municipalities.

The charge came here Monday night from State. Sen. Frazier Reams Jr., Rhodes, Democratic opponent in the November election.

Reams asserted that Rhodes' administration "has taken no action on pollution and does not plan any. . . the Rhodes administration does not plan to spend one cent to end pollution."

The Senator referred to the governor's anti-pollution program as "nothing more than a list of sewer line and water treatment plant production already planned" by cities and industries.

He said there should be a cooperative local, state, and federal program to end pollution in the state's rivers and lakes.

Pharmacist Appointed To City Utilities Board

Council voted Monday night to confirm Mayor George E. Willshaw's action in appointing Robert R. Lewis of N. Shady Ln. Dr., Fisher Park, as a member of the city's Board of Public Utilities, which administers the water and sewage departments.

The mayor explained in a letter he appointed Lewis to succeed Howard T. Moore of 1718 Pennsylvania Ave., whose term ended June 30. Lewis is a pharmacist, employed at Bloor's Pharmacies. The term runs through June 30, 1972.

Other members of the utilities board are W. O. Schneider, chairman, and F. J. Cloran. Council established the utilities board in 1952 to administer the two departments.

Ruling On Teachers Returned By Saxbe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe ruled today that a teacher who holds a teacher's certificate and who is an employe of the "head start" program lacks eligibility for membership in the State Teachers Retirement System.

Saxbe pointed out such teachers are ineligible "since the 'head start' program is operated by and between the individual boards of education and the federal government, is supported solely by federal funds, and employes are employed under a special contract . . ."

More than 2.7 million serious crimes were reported to the nation's police departments last year.

Klein Faces Questions On Dodd Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Ethics Committee questions Chicago publicist Julius Klein today about his dealings with Sen. Thomas J. Dodd.

Klein, 64, a registered agent for West German business interests, is expected to be the final witness in the initial phase of the committee's investigation into misconduct charges against Dodd.

Dodd planned to keep his old friend at more than arm's length. As chairman of the Senate Juvenile Delinquency Subcommittee, the Connecticut Democrat scheduled a simultaneous hearing on narcotics legislation and did not plan to attend the Ethics Committee session.

The bipartisan Ethics Committee is expected to zero in on a trip Dodd made to Germany in April 1964.

Columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson, who sparked the inquiry, have charged that Dodd was "an errand boy" for Klein and made the trip to help him retain his West German clients.

But in testimony before the committee last month, Dodd said he made the trip for the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee to investigate Soviet terror tactics.

Councilmen Pass Bill For Release Of Old Easement

Council gave approval Monday night to an ordinance authorizing the release of an easement obtained four years ago—but never used—for construction of a water line across property in Liverpool Township.

The easement was given the city in June 1962 by William L. Smith, Virginia P. Smith, Richard V. Beatty, Jane M. Beatty, Miriam L. DeMunn and Lawrence DeMunn. But the water line actually was constructed across other land to the south of the spot affected by the easement, the ordinance explains.

The ordinance authorizes Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey and the Board of Public Utilities to execute a deed and other documents to release the easement.

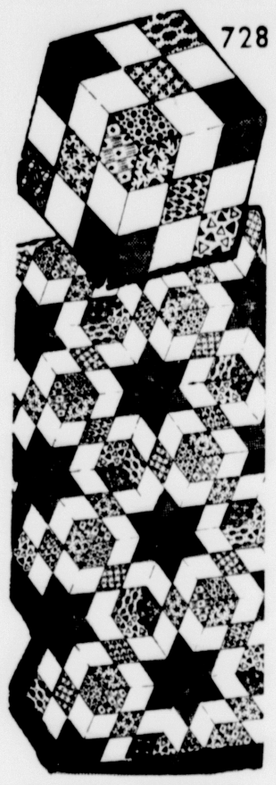

Council also was to have considered a resolution authorizing payment of a $20 claim against the city, but it was shelved.

Districts not sponsoring the college include Green and Potter Townships and Shippingport.

Reams Charges Rhodes Inaction In Pollution War

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has been accused of trying to take credit for water pollution treatment facilities being paid for by industries and municipalities.

The charge came here Monday night from State. Sen. Frazier Reams Jr., Rhodes, Democratic opponent in the November election.

Reams asserted that Rhodes' administration "has taken no action on pollution and does not plan any. . . the Rhodes administration does not plan to spend one cent to end pollution."

The Senator referred to the governor's anti-pollution program as "nothing more than a list of sewer line and water treatment plant production already planned" by cities and industries.

He said there should be a cooperative local, state, and federal program to end pollution in the state's rivers and lakes.

Pharmacist Appointed To City Utilities Board

Council voted Monday night to confirm Mayor George E. Willshaw's action in appointing Robert R. Lewis of N. Shady Ln. Dr., Fisher Park, as a member of the city's Board of Public Utilities, which administers the water and sewage departments.

The mayor explained in a letter he appointed Lewis to succeed Howard T. Moore of 1718 Pennsylvania Ave., whose term ended June 30. Lewis is a pharmacist, employed at Bloor's Pharmacies. The term runs through June 30, 1972.

Other members of the utilities board are W. O. Schneider, chairman, and F. J. Cloran. Council established the utilities board in 1952 to administer the two departments.

Man Faces Charges For Slaying Of Wife

Mrs. Betty Jane Dunnerstick, 34, of Akron, a doctor's secretary, was stabbed through the heart Monday.

Bolt Ignites Bed Of Youth

A charge of lightning ignited a mattress on the bed of an Ohioville youth leaving him unharmed, during an electrical storm which swept through the area early this morning.

The bolt struck by the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hum of Willowbrook Drive, Ohioville, leaping from a wall electrical outlet to the mattress which caught fire on the bed of Jay Hum.

Hum threw the burning mattress outside, and only minor damage results.

Some 15 Ohioville volunteer firemen with three trucks responded to the alarm shortly after 5 a. m.

The Ohioville fire siren was started only ten minutes before by a stray charge of lightning, firemen reported.

Lightning also struck buildings in Monaca, North Rochester and Beaver Falls, but no serious damage was reported.

Ruling On Teachers Returned By Saxbe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe ruled today that a teacher who holds a teacher's certificate and who is an employe of the "head start" program lacks eligibility for membership in the State Teachers Retirement System.

Saxbe pointed out such teachers are ineligible "since the 'head start' program is operated by and between the individual boards of education and the federal government, is supported solely by federal funds, and employes are employed under a special contract . . ."

More than 2.7 million serious crimes were reported to the nation's police departments last year.

Junior Editors Quiz on BIRDS

QUESTION: How can birds hear, since they have no ears?

ANSWER: When you realize that birds sing mainly so that others will hear them and keep away from their particular hunting territory, you will also realize that hearing is important to them. Birds do have hears. What we call the ear actually is only the outer part; it helps to carry sound vibrations inside our heads, but we do not hear with it. Birds do not have this outer ear, but they do have the important inner part, the cohlea, where hearing actually takes place (1) Sound comes to this through an opening back of the eye (2) Because the vulture has no feathers on his head, we can see this; but in the ordinary bird (3) it is covered with light feathers, which allows sound vibrations to come through. Outer ear on a bird (as in the imaginary picture at the top) would be a nuisance to him. This would break the sound streamlining of his body, so essential to flight — and it is around flight that a bird's body is constructed. As it is, birds can hear well enough. Their hearing, however, is not the main sense on which they rely. This is their extremely acute and quickly adjustable vision.

FOR YOU TO DO: Watch a bird for awhile, following him in everthing he does. Notice how he cocks his head, keeps looking around everywhere. He is relying, mainly, on his eyesight.

Income Gains Are Reported For Crucible

PITTSBURGH — The Crucible Steel Co. of America today reported new gains in second-quarter income to $4,439,000, or $1.04 per share, up from $3,931,000 or 93 cents a share a year earlier.

Sales were $85,566,000 compared with $86,407,000 in the corresponding period last year.

Joel Hunter, president, said that Crucible's six - month income of $7,994,000, or $1.88 per share, continues a steady five-year trend in earnings improvement. "With the single exception of strike - torn 1959, our first half 1966 earnings are the highest in 10 years," Hunter said.

He attributed the "consistently - improved earnings to increased operating efficiencies and a concerted effort designed to upgrade the profitability of Crucible's product mix in the specialty steels field."

"Benefits from substantial expenditures over recent years for research, plant expansion and modernization are increasingly evident. In the past 10 years alone, capital investment in new facilities substantially exceeds today's net book value of all Crucible properties."

Child Injured As She Darts In Car's Path

An 8-year-old Klondyke girl was in "satisfactory" condition today at City Hospital with injuries suffered Monday night at 8:22 when struck by an auto on Harvey Ave. near Elizabeth St.

Yvonne Roxanne Herron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Herron of 2128 Ohio Ave., suffered injuries of the head, right knee and both feet, the hospital said.

The youngster darted into the path of a 1963 model convertible driven by Robert G. Smurthwaite, 19, of 815 Lang St., officers said.

Smurthwaite said he was driving west about 20 miles an hour when he saw two or three girls standing on the sidewalk. He said it appeared they were waiting for traffic to clear, but suddenly the children ran into the street in front of his car, which struck the Herron youngster.

The child was taken to the hospital in a police car. Lt. Kenneth Mooney and Patrolmen W. F. Copestick and K. J. Montgomery investigated. They found 21 feet of tire skid marks on the pavement prior to the point of impact.

The youth was driving an auto registered to George F. Smurthwaite of the same Lang St. address. Three witnesses told the officers the youngster ran in front of the car. They were listed as Emerson Barnes and Emerson Barnes Jr., both of 1561 Park Ave. and Paul Thomas of 1049 Monaca St.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bishop Fred Pierce Corson, president of the World Methodist Council, says birth-control pills should be subject to the same restrictions as dangerous drugs.

"Making it easy to secure an over-the-counter product will create an evil brood of moral deterioration as well as economic and social problems," Bishop Corson told a news conference in Philadelphia Monday.

"Morally and religiously, birth-control methods should be prescribed only for married couples after consultation with religious advisers, if they are associated with a religious body," he said.

Davis asked the U. S. Tax Court Monday to overturn an IRS finding that he owes $8,710 for 1959, $109,744 for 1960 and a late-filing penalty of $36,029.

Davis contends that thousands of dollars in expenses disallowed by the IRS were essential to his position in show business.

CORBIN, Ky. (AP) — Court Clerk Everett Rains of Corbin issued a marriage license to a young couple with a small gift, saying "I hope you enjoy this small token of your marriage."

Several days later he met the mother of the bride on the street. "Well, how did the marriage ceremony come out?" Rains asked.

"You should know," the woman said. "After all, you married them."

Rains, taken aback, explained diplomatically he didn't marry the couple when he issued the license. The honeymooning couple was brought back from Cincinnati, Ohio, and a preacher did what Rains hadn't.

Income Gains Are Reported For Crucible

PITTSBURGH — The Crucible Steel Co. of America today reported new gains in second-quarter income to $4,439,000, or $1.04 per share, up from $3,931,000 or 93 cents a share a year earlier.

Sales were $85,566,000 compared with $86,407,000 in the corresponding period last year.

Joel Hunter, president, said that Crucible's six - month income of $7,994,000, or $1.88 per share, continues a steady five-year trend in earnings improvement. "With the single exception of strike - torn 1959, our first half 1966 earnings are the highest in 10 years," Hunter said.

He attributed the "consistently - improved earnings to increased operating efficiencies and a concerted effort designed to upgrade the profitability of Crucible's product mix in the specialty steels field."

"Benefits from substantial expenditures over recent years for research, plant expansion and modernization are increasingly evident. In the past 10 years alone, capital investment in new facilities substantially exceeds today's net book value of all Crucible properties."

Child Injured As She Darts In Car's Path

An 8-year-old Klondyke girl was in "satisfactory" condition today at City Hospital with injuries suffered Monday night at 8:22 when struck by an auto on Harvey Ave. near Elizabeth St.

Yvonne Roxanne Herron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Herron of 2128 Ohio Ave., suffered injuries of the head, right knee and both feet, the hospital said.

The youngster darted into the path of a 1963 model convertible driven by Robert G. Smurthwaite, 19, of 815 Lang St., officers said.

Smurthwaite said he was driving west about 20 miles an hour when he saw two or three girls standing on the sidewalk. He said it appeared they were waiting for traffic to clear, but suddenly the children ran into the street in front of his car, which struck the Herron youngster.
